TWENTY-FIVE DEAD AND FORTY INJURED IN TERRIFIC BLASTS

Montreal Fire Chief and Three Comrades Lose Lives in Heroic Effort to Rescue Men Below Decks of Burning Tanker—Spark From Drill Cause of Disaster

By A. J. McKENNA

MONTREAL, June 17 (CP).—The slip of a machinist's drill was blamed by fellow workmen for explosions early today that cost twenty-five men their lives, wrecked the oil tanker Cymbeline, and ruined the drydock in which the vessel was resting for repairs.

In the early morning hours a night crew of nearly 100 machinists, rivetters and helpers were swarming about the Cymbeline, rushing forward the work of repairing steel plates injured when she grounded on her way up the St. Lawrence. In her hold were thousands of gallons of fuel oil, and a few feet away in the steel walls of the Canadian Vickers, Limited, drydock was another large amount of inflammable material.

SPARK FROM DRILL

As the scene was reconstructed today by survivors of the disaster, one of the men was using an electric drill on a steel plate, later to be lowered and fastened into the side of the ship. The point of the drill penetrated the plate, but instead of being lifted, was allowed to continue through the steel to the drydock floor below on which the oil lay.

From the tip of the drill a spark flew into the fumes above the oil. Three was a roar that could be heard in the centre of the city, six miles away. A great rent, thirty feet long, was torn in the side wall and a shower of blazing oil was thrown over the wheelhouse and bridge deck of the ship. The flaming liquid poured down the hatchways and sealed the exit of a group of men, estimated at seventeen, working in the hold.

THROWN FROM BUNKS

Thrown from their bunks by the force of the blast, the crew, numbering over thirty, emerged from the forward part of the ship. All escaped. Workmen on deck struggled to escape from the spreading flames. Some succeeded in reaching the undamaged part of the drydock and then the shore. Others threw themselves into the river.

NO CHANGE IN IRISH DISPUTE

Thomas Tells House De Valera's Attitude Unaltered by Discussions

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—An "Irish republic," including Northern and Southern Ireland, which in special circumstances would act with the British Commonwealth in external affairs and at such a time recognizing the King as its head, is the aim of President de Valera of the Free State.

This was the vision—it is little more—which President de Valera put before Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, British Secretary for the Dominions, and Lord Hailsham, War Minister, when the two saw him in Dublin last week. Mr. Thomas gave the account to the House of Commons today, and at the same time produced the latest note from the Free State, received this morning.

ATTITUDE UNCHANGED

"He does not even mention the oath, which means that he is acting consistently with his attitude that it is none of our business," Mr. Thomas declared, in reference to the Free State Government's determination to abolish the Parliamentary oath of allegiance, a policy which was at the root of the present Anglo-Irish difficulties.

"This statement does not depart one iota from Mr. de Valera's original position," Mr. Thomas said. It left the situation worse than before.

WILL NOT NEGOTIATE

Consequently the British Government, Mr. Thomas went on, would make no new agreements with the Free State unless the Republican Government changes its attitude. Great Britain, as he stated before, will decline to negotiate with the Irish Free State at the Imperial Conference or elsewhere, considering the Free State's policies on the oath and the land annuities to be breaches of the Anglo-Irish Treaty.

U.S. Senate Turns Down Bonus Bill

WASHINGTON, June 17. — The $2,400,000,000 bonus bill was rejected tonight by the United States Senate.

The vote came a short time after several thousand additional veterans had joined the thousands who had spent the day at the Capitol awaiting a decision on the legislation which had brought them to Washington from all sections of the country.

The bill had passed the House of Representatives Wednesday.

The measure provided for immediate payment of the veterans' bonus certificates with new money

The vote against the legislation was 62 to 18.

TREATY NEED IS EXPLAINED

Hon. R. B. Bennett Gives Reasons for Abrogation of French Agreement

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett indicated today the reasons why the Canadian Government considered it necessary to take steps towards the abrogation, in its present form, of the trade treaty with France and replace it with a new and more comprehensive pact.

The statement issued by the Prime Minister reads:

"On September 5, 1923, a trade convention negotiated between Canada and France in the preceding year became effective.

GRANTED BY FRANCE

"Under the provisions of the agreement, France granted (1) its minimum tariff, as varied from time to time, to certain specified Canadian products; (2) rates varying between the general and the minimum tariff on certain other specified products; (3) on all other articles a tariff rate not exceedir; the rate of the French general tariff of 1910, so long as these rates were accorded to the United States; and (4) as regards Canadian goods imported into the French colonies, the lowest tariff in force at St. Pierre and Miquelon on certain specified products and varying rates in other colonies.

CANADA'S CONCESSIONS

"In return, Canada granted to France:

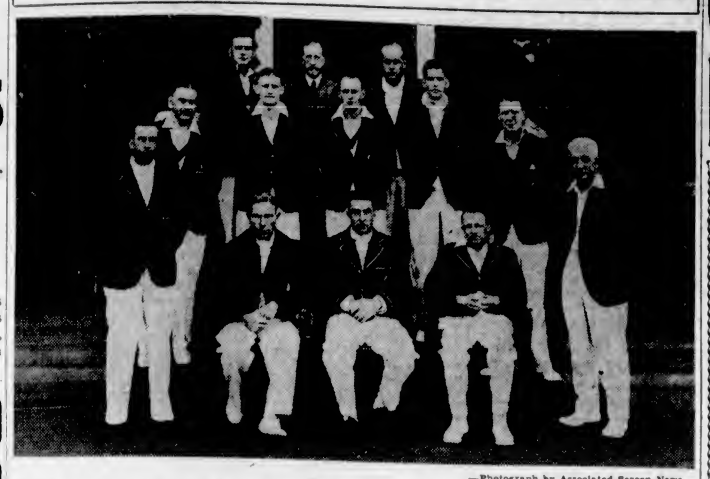

"(1) A fixed rate of duty on some thirty-one items, including canned fruits and vegetables, sardines, perfumes, nonsparkling wines, chinaware, silks, velvets, gloves and films.

"(2) On some ninety-one items the intermediate tariff less a discount of 10 per cent on the amount of the duty; included in this were champagne, silk, cutlery, musical instruments, pipes, jewelry and certain lines of cotton, linen and silk fabrics.

"(3) On three items, comprising fabrics of cotton or flax, printed, dyed or colored, and certain lines of

Knock Up Mighty Total Against Cowichan for Easy Victory

McCABE HIGH MAN WITH SCORE OF 150

(Special to The Colonist)

DUNCAN, June 17.—Fifteen hundred people from all parts of the Island gathered at the cricket grounds, here, today, to see the Australian cricketers in the first match of their American tour, when they met a team from the Cowichan club, strengthened by J. Hine and W. Unsworth, of Nanaimo, and F. H. Allwood and A. Gillespie, of Victoria. Other members of the home team were G. G. Baiss, E. C. Ball, L. A. S. Cole, A. E. Green, G. A. Jobling, A. E. S. Leggatt (captain), W. Mowbray, C. T. Mayo (formerly Somerset), A. G. H. Tisdall, H. A. Rhodes, E. J. H. Ryall, R. Walton, F. C. P. Williams-Freeman and A. Leighton.

The Australians arrived promptly at 11 o'clock, and were cheered as they walked on the field. Mrs. W. R. Russell, on behalf of the Cowichan Chapter, I.O.D.E., presented Mrs. Don Bradman, wife of the visitors' star batsman, and the only woman with the touring party, with a beautiful bouquet.

Cowichan went in to bat first, and considering they were up against the bowling of the mighty Mailey, considered by some to be the great-

Looks to Imperial Conference to Restore World Commerce

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—Civilization faces disintegration, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told the local Rotary Club today, pointing to the Imperial Economic Conference as the brightest star on the economic horizon. If it resulted in a larger share of co-operation throughout the Empire, "it will in turn definitely affect world conditions and possibly open the way to a freer movement of business throughout the world."

"I am fully alive to the desirability of promoting Empire trade," Mr. Stevens said, "and I believe that we have contributed in the past to the promotion of that trade, and moreover we ought to enlarge our purchases of Empire goods and make wider use of Empire services. Nevertheless, when we enter the conference, we should do so with a clear appreciation of Canada's historic participation in the promotion of Empire trade and with an adequate understanding of our position, to the end that once again confidence may be restored and fear banished."

Twenty Families Lose Their Homes

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 17.—Twenty families were rendered homeless and three buildings, two large tenement structures, totally destroyed by fire at Temiskaming, Que., last night. The blaze originated at 6:30 and was under control two hours later.

Hailstorm On Prairies Disastrous

CHAPLIN, Sask., June 17 (CP).—Hail and wind played havoc with many farms near here today. Accompanied by a high wind and rain in cloudburst proportions, it struck isolated sections, ruining crops, killing fowl and wrecking buildings.

Sloughs and lakes, empty for two years, are tonight filled with water. The downpour was particularly violent in the Droxford district. The spotty nature of the storm was indicated by the fact that Lambourne, only a few miles away, received only a light shower.

In places, hailstones as large as hen's eggs fell, pounding growing crops to the ground.

ARE WORKING FOR SAFETY OF DIVERS

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Proposals that a recompression chamber be provided in Vancouver to treat divers attacked by caissons disease, the "bends," will be considered June 28 at a conference attended by Dr. A. K. Haywood, of the General Hospital; Dr. J. W. McIntosh, city health officer; Alderman R. N. Fraser, chairman of the city health committee, and a representative of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

POLICE CHIEFS WILL CONVENE IN CHICAGO

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—Alfred Seymour, chief of police of Lansing, Mich., was elected president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, at the closing session of the annual convention of the association here, today.

Chicago was chosen for the 1933 convention city over El Paso by a vote of 49 to 4.

Other officers elected included: Fifth vice-president, Chris H. Newton, chief constable, Winnipeg.

China May Become Increasing Market For Lumber Output

Reduction in Japanese Imports by China May Open Market for Pacific Coast Region—Steamship Subsidy Is Sought

EXAMINING market opportunities outside of Empire countries, the trade extension committee of the Cabinet has come to the belief that China can be encouraged to increase lumber imports from British Columbia, if closer contact is established by the British Columbia operators in that market.

The passing of Manchurian control into Japanese hands and political changes in the Far East have cut off an estimated 250,000,000 board feet that found its way yearly into China from Japanese and Manchurian sources. China's total annual requirements from this seaboard are around 500,000,000 feet.

Shortage in the annual requirements of the Chinese market will have to be made up from Pacific Coast areas, it is believed. From this springs the hope that British Columbia may receive an increased share of this trade, if it goes after it, and establishes contact with that market.

BRITISH COLUMBIA SHARES

While the United States has supplied the larger portion of China's timber needs, with Japan second, orders from British Columbia mills have kept up in the last three years.

In 1929, British Columbia exported 43,323,000 board feet to the Chinese market, followed by 55,224,000 board feet in 1930, and 53,854,000 board feet last year.

Any increase in the purchasing power of silver would vastly extend the capacity of the Far East to increase its trade in this and many other directions, it is foreseen. Even a slight improvement in this connection would make a noted difference in so far as British Columbia is concerned.

Recent action in Japan to impose additional tariffs on lumber entering the country will work equally against American and Canadian exports, but without discrimination.

Canadian mills, on the other hand, are now under a definite disadvantage in that shipping sub-

DAVILA AGAIN HEAD OF JUNTA

Marmaduke Grove Ousted After Short Reign as Chilean Leader

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 17 (AP). —A military coup today again put Carlos Davila at the head of a Socialist Junta "devoid of extremists."

This was the latest of kaleidoscopic changes which have occurred since President Juan Esteban Montero was overthrown by Davila and Colonel Marmaduke Grove, head of the Chilean Air Service, exactly two weeks ago.

TAKEN BY ARMY LEADERS

Colonel Grove, in turn, ousted Davila for his moderate Socialist powers, but last night, before he got a chance to divert the Government into his own channels, he was captured in a bloodless coup by army leaders supporting Davila.

The military said they did not approve of "Communists," and marched on the presidential palace where, after some delay, they apprehended Grove.

Davila confirmed their stand a few hours after they had overthrown the Grovista, and appeared to have the solid backing of the country's military forces.

Prosaic Entry Records End of Life of Devotion

MONTREAL, June 17 (CP). — "Killed on June 17, 1932, at box 8121, opposite Canadian Vickers."

As the last entry relating to Fire Director Raoul Gauthier was inscribed today on a well-filled page in the official records of the Montreal fire department, the writer glanced at a motto above the former chief's desk. It read: "Keep smiling."

Duty called Chief Gauthier to a brave but tragic death. Tonight his body lay undiscovered amid the debris wrought by the oil tanker Cymbeline and destroyed part of Canadian Vickers' drydock.

Director Gauthier was known throughout Canada and the United States. He was president of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs, a director of the International Fire Chiefs' Association, and a past president of the Montreal Police and Fire Chiefs' Club. His name appears twice on the department roll of merit.

Of French and Irish descent, Director Gauthier spoke French and English fluently. He was a devout Roman Catholic, a constant student of scientific methods of fire fighting and a strong advocate of advanced fire prevention methods.

MALTA SCENE OF DEMONSTRATIONS

Nationalists Celebrate Return to Power—Will Make Little Difference to Empire Relations

VALLETTA, Malta, June 17 (CP). —"England must now bow to the people's will," asserted Dr. Mizzi, leader of the extremist faction of the Nationalist Party, addressing a large crowd tonight after announcement of the Nationalist victory over the Constitutionalist or Government Party in the Maltese general elections.

Demonstrations throughout the island were held to celebrate the return of the Nationalists to power. They had been out of office since 1927, when Lord Strickland's Constitutionalist Party gained a majority in the Lower House.

So far as relations with the Empire are concerned, the overturn may make little difference. The great bulk of the Nationalists, although attached to the Italian language and culture as opposed to the British, are, nevertheless, attached to the Imperial connection.

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES LEAD DELAYING DEBT PAYMENTS

Five Creditor Nations Sign Document Reserving Reparations and War Debts—British Chancellor Ready for Clean Sweep of Slate if Other Countries Agree—Agreement Clears Path

French and Germans Leave Meeting With High Hopes

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 17 (CP).—Great Britain is ready for a clean sweep of reparations and war debts payments. Stating the British position at today's private session of the conference, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, pointed out that war debts due to Great Britain amounted to more than £2,000,000,000. On the other hand total British debt payments to the present exceeded the total of receipts—after allowing for interest—by £200,000,000.

"To sacrifice our claim for this vast sum is no slight undertaking," the Chancellor declared. But so fully convinced are we that only by radical measures can we restore that confidence without which the wheels of credit cannot be induced once more to revolve freely, that we should be prepared to take our share in the general wiping of the slate, provided all other governments concerned would do the same."

AN IMPORTANT EVENT

Mr. Chamberlain declared he regarded it as of the highest importance that on the first day of the conference the five creditor powers—Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan—should have been able to affix their signatures to the document reserving reparations and war debts.

"For this document not only clears the path of progress for our future discussions, but it solemnly declares the necessity of a final and definite solution of the problems involved in the present conditions of Europe," he said.

U.S. NOT INCLUEDED

The document in effect prolongs the Hoover moratorium on intergovernmental debts. It applies to all payments due at the end of the conference, some time next month.

Mail Plane Will Meet Ship During Imperial Parley

OTTAWA, June 17.—A high-speed air mail service, to be established in conjunction with the transatlantic voyages of the Ss. Empress of Britain during the month or six weeks of the Imperial Conference, is being arranged by the Postoffice Department.

The announcement of this service, made today under the authority of Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster-General, declared that the aerial link will enable mail to be exchanged between London and Ottawa in four and a half days.

WILL CURTAIL RELIEF COST

Effort Being Made to Hold Provincial Outlay to $50,000 Monthly

Acting on instructions from the Department of Finance, a determined effort to limit provincial costs on relief assistance this Summer to $50,000 monthly, is being made by the provincial authorities. Tentative schedules which would allot up to $20,000 monthly for total provincial contribution to municipal relief, and $30,000 monthly for provincial camps, are being drawn up for the unemployment committee of the Cabinet.

Wholesale cutting down in provincial and municipal plans would have to be achieved if the Province's costs are to be held within the $50,000 per month mentioned as its contribution to all forms of relief within British Columbia borders.

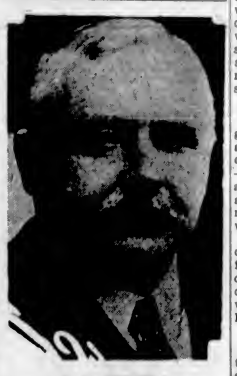

WOULD LIMIT CITIES

In municipal areas the Dominion Government would contribute a share equal to that of the Province, leaving the remaining third to be found by the municipalities. This would automatically limit the municipalities of the Province to an aggregate expenditure of $60,000 monthly, or less for the seventy-eight centres than some of them were spending single-handed last year.

On the same basis, provincial relief, to which the Dominion contributes one-half, would be held to a total of $60,000 monthly, for relief in unorganized territories in forty electoral districts.

The total bill, under provincial, municipal and Dominion heads, on this basis, would be $120,000 per month for all forms of relief. Officials of the Government yesterday declined to discuss the plan, other than to confirm that definite schedules were being worked out with a view to apportioning relief assistance all round.

Trusses Up and Gags Bank Officers Under Nose of a Policeman

Lone Winnipeg Bandit Helps Himself to $8,000—Tells His Bound Victims He Is Wanted for Murder in Vancouver

WINNIPEG, June 17 (CP).—The lone bandit who late Thursday held up and robbed the Royal Bank branch at Osborne Street and Corydon, escaping with $8,000 after trussing and gagging four employees, is still in the city, police authorities believe, and an intensive man hunt is in progress.

R. D. Randall, manager; C. P. Moat, accountant; A. J. Bridge, ledgerkeeper, and D. S. Anderson, junior clerk, were the four employees overpowered, trussed and gagged by the youthful gunman.

After binding the four men, the robber gagged them with their own handkerchiefs. He then scooped all cash in sight in the teller's cage into a brief case, walked out the front door, got into a taxicab which he had ordered to be there, and drove away.

CLEVERLY PREPARED

It was approximately a half-hour after the regular closing time of the bank when the bandit appeared and rapped on the door. He had no difficulty because of clever preparations he had made previously. Earlier in the week he had appeared at the bank during business hours, introduced himself as "Mr. Morgan," and said he was an investigator for a local loan company. He inquired about a small loan to a man named "Ernest Reid," who, he said, had given as reference the name of his brother working in the Corydon branch bank. He was informed by the bank's employees that no man named Reid worked there.

UNDIVIDED ATTENTION

When he was seen at the door Thursday the staff thought he had returned in connection with the "Reid loan," and he was admitted. He discussed this matter with them

CHANGE OF WIND SAVES SITUATION

Firefighters on North Shore Hold Flames Threatening Timber in Check

VANCOUVER, June 17.—A sudden change of wind to the southeast this afternoon, and the fact that the flames were temporarily arrested by green timber, enabled firefighters in Sister's Creek area and Capilano watershed to make marked progress in controlling the forest conflagration on the North Shore.

Three hundred men had staged a strenuous fight throughout the night in an endeavor to get under control a bush fire which threatened to demolish large areas of green timbers on both the east and west sides of Sister's Creek on holdings of the Sister's Creek Logging Company and Vancouver Water Board, two and a half miles north of Capilano Timber Company's Camp E.

A considerable quantity of felled timber was destroyed during the day, and the fire did much damage in slashings and second growth. The 300 men fighting the flames are well equipped and have all the water required to aid them in subduing the fire.

BRACKEN GOV'T GIVEN MANDATE

Liberal-Progressives May Have Majority of Twelve in Next House

WINNIPEG, June 17 (CP). — Premier John Bracken tonight carries a mandate to continue his administration of Manitoba another five years—but under a new name.

An economy coalition of his own Progressives and Liberals, formed just a few weeks before polling day, at yesterday's general election was returned to power with a strength greater than Mr. Bracken's Progressives held in either of the last two Legislatures.

A clear majority in the new House of fifty-five members was assured the Premier today with election conceded twenty-nine Liberal-Progressive candidates. Government standard-bearers are leading tonight in four additional constituencies where returns are incomplete and two northern ridings—both Bracken strongholds in the past—have yet to vote.

CLEAR MAJORITY ASSURED

Winnipeg, of whose ten members only two have been declared elected, promised to name at least two and probably three Government followers and bring the coalition total to thirty-six or thirty-seven. By the time the next House assembles Mr. Bracken may have as many as thirty-nine on his side of the House.

Standing of parties tonight was: Government, twenty-nine; Conservative, five; Labor, one; Independent, one; undecided, seventeen.

It will be several days before returns are completed. Ten rural constituencies are still in doubt, leaders, failing to secure the necessary 50 per cent quota, and results of second countings will not be announced in some cases until June 22.

COUNTING IN WINNIPEG

Transferring of votes in Winnipeg starts tomorrow. Only W. Sanford Evans, Conservative, and John Queen, Labor leader, were elected on the first count. Second count is expected to bring in Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General; S. J. Farmer, Labor, and John T. Haig, Conservative.

Others likely to gain election under the proportional representation system of vote counting are Major-General D. B. Ketchen, Conservative; Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Minister of Natural Resources; Marcus Hyman, Labor, and Ralph Maybank, Liberal-Progressive.

ARMED MEN ROB STORE MANAGER

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Held up by two armed bandits in Cunningham's drug store, West Fourth, late Thursday night, John H. Shields, manager, was robbed of $12.

The men walked into the store and ordered Shields to stand aside while they looted the cash register. Two other men waited in a car at the curb.

Discuss Rotary's Part In World Activities

Conference in Victoria Devotes Entire Afternoon to Consideration of Means of Best Serving International Amity

Rotary's relation to world activities was considered at the meeting of the Assembly of Rotary International yesterday afternoon. The subject was introduced by John Nelson, third vice-president, who was followed by G. Fred Birks, of Sydney, Australia, after which there was a general discussion of the whole matter. Short reports from district governors present were given. The time proved too short to allow of the completion of these reports, and further hearing was adjourned until this morning.

Mr. Nelson pointed out that there would, in an organization like Rotary, be a considerable difference of opinion held by members on subjects. This made for vitality within the ranks of the organization. He said that in the views he would advance he was simply putting forward his own viewpoint, and it was not proposed to be dogmatic in any way with regard to them.

DRIFTED APART

While the human family had all sprung from the same family in the beginning of things, they could not shut their eyes to the fact that in the scattering of the family there had grown up animosities so that they now stood divided and forgetful of their original kinship.

Science, with invention, had interposed itself and brought the members of the human race back into close touch with one another. But while science brought them together, it offered no solution of how to make them live together harmoniously.

Mr. Nelson felt that Rotary was teaching communities to live together. They were learning through that agency to mobilize for the general good.

WORLD PROBLEMS

The club was not a place where they brought world problems to be decided. On the contrary, it was a place from which they sent men to solve these problems.

With the feeling which was being cultivated by Rotary, which made for the international feelings of good will, it was difficult to conceive of war which would take on the aspect of a civil conflict. He advised the members not to be discouraged or disappointed if the results did not come as quickly as they desired.

Mr. Birks referred to Rotary's start in America. It was a movement along Anglo-Saxon lines, but it was wonderful the way in which it had been seized by all races, and it had been grasped as readily by the Latin countries, Japan and the other Oriental peoples as it had been taken up by Americans and British.

The world had now become one organism, so that if one part was affected, the whole was affected. The world-wide fellowship that was developed had made it impossible to keep the movement to one country. Its activities were spreading in many lines.

GENERAL DISCUSSION

In the general discussion that followed, representatives from widely-scattered parts of the world took part.

Rev. Harry L. Everett, of Jersey City, advised wider information of world affairs among the members of Rotary.

Ramon Lorenzo, of Santa Clara, Cuba, contributed his message on the subject in Spanish, which, by means of the system installed in the assembly room, was heard in English by the members who did not understand the former language.

Rudolph Herrman, of Teplice-Sanov, Czechoslovakia, was complimented by President Sydney W. Pascall upon the way he spoke in English.

Herbert Baker, of Barranquilla, Colombia, felt that Rotarians had to prepare for the work that faced them and must study the problems that confronted the world. They must not be afraid to discuss tariffs and other questions now before the world.

COURTESY TO STUDENTS

Herbert P. Coates, of Montevideo, Uruguay, praised the work that Rotary was doing in his country. He advised Rotarians to extend to the foreign students attending the universities every courtesy and welcome. By doing so they would pave the way for future good feelings.

Henry Wigny, of Liege, Belgium, spoke in French and had his remarks translated into English by Louis E. Steinmann, of Antwerp, Belgium. In an impassioned address he called for the introduction of a spirit of law, justice and liberty throughout the world.

Ernesto J. Aguilar, of Mexico City, advised Rotarians to develop an international mind. Inland clubs should study these problems, although they did not come in touch with foreigners to the same extent as did the seaports. He also spoke from experience of the good work to be done in making foreign students in the country feel at home.

William de Cock Buning, of The Hague, in summing up the situation, pointed out that they could not expect to have all clubs operate along exactly the same lines. They should strive to live up to the highest aims of the organization.

The whole of the forenoon session was taken up with the discussion of membership problems, with suggestions how some of these could be solved. Past President Almon E. Roth, of Palo Alto, California, was one of the principal speakers.

CHINA MAY BECOME INCREASING MARKET FOR LUMBER OUTPUT

sidies aid transport facilities for United States shippers to the Far East.

Establishment of a Dominion Government subsidy of approximately $4 per 1,000 feet, for two sailings monthly between British Columbia and the Orient, will be mooted by the lumber trades delegation at Ottawa, it was intimated yesterday by Hon. N. S. Lougheed.

China is seen as an improving market for rough lumber, formerly shipped by Canada to the United States, but now shut out by reason of the new United States tariff. If Federal subsidy can be secured in aid of British Columbia export lumber across the Pacific, it would go far towards placing British Columbia mills on an even 'ooting with United States concerns now shipping to that market.

ATLANTIC FAVORED

In favor of the proposal for trade subsidies on the Pacific is cited the fact that $2,000,000 yearly has been paid on the Atlantic seaboard by the Canadian Government in subsidizing steamship services for the extension of trade. This compares to less than $100,000 yearly paid by the Dominion in a similar way on the Pacific Coast, according to Mr. Lougheed.

"The Chinese market is particularly attractive to us now for the reason that China will need more lumber than ever from this coast," Mr. Lougheed stated. "Ordinarily it buys 130,000,000 feet a year from Manchuria, but this business is being halted by political unrest in that country. From Japan, China usually buys 100,000,000 feet yearly, but recent developments are likely to shut off a great deal of that business. A very large field of development awaits us in China. Federal subsidy would be imperative if we are to compete successfully for this new trade," the Minister of Lands concluded.

BRITISH PARTY HAD GOOD TRIP

T. D. Young Says That Britain Is Regaining Confidence in Business

The British Rotary party, which arrived in Victoria yesterday headed by T. D. Young from Newcastle-on-Tyne, has enjoyed its tour through Canada to the fullest. The members spent some time in the mountain resorts of the C.P.R. before coming on to Victoria.

Mr. Young was delighted with the city on this his first visit here. He bears out the general opinion expressed regarding the situation in a commercial way in the Old Country, which is that confidence is being restored and that it is expected in a short time there may be a decided improvement. They are expecting, he says, good to come from the Economic Conference in Ottawa.

Mr. Young is the managing partner of Thomas Young & Sons, Ltd., linen merchants in Newcastle-on-Tyne. He is the fifth in the direct line to take charge of the business, which was established in 1786.

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES LEAD IN DELAYING DEBT PAYMENTS

It does not, of course, apply to payments due to the United States. No payments are due to the United States, however, until next December.

Germany and France stated their cases also. France, through Premier Edouard Herriot, declared cancellation of reparations would not constitute an equitable solution—they were only an element in the European and world trouble.

Chancellor von Papen, of Germany, said it was an error to believe Germany would become a formidable trade competitor if she were freed from political debts. He did not mention cancellation, but he declared the reparations payments had become destructive instead of constructive.

READY TO CO-OPERATE

The world trouble, said Premier Herriot, must be remedied not by a simple transfer of charges from one country to another, but a loyal association of efforts in which France was prepared to co-operate unreservedly.

"We are here for business," was Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's emphatic comment to the Canadian Press, as the morning's private session of the Reparations Conference ended. "The condition of the world," Mr. MacDonald added, "is such that unnecessary delay is unthinkable. Neville Chamberlain has stated our attitude very definitely. The session now proceeding will be continued until the various delegations have expressed their views."

The Lausanne Conference delegates separated for the week-end tonight, with Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, and Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, almost vying with each other in expressions of good will.

ATMOSPHERE GOOD AUGURY

Shortly after the conference rose, Herr von Papen, in an interview, referred to Premier Herriot's speech today as having given him the impression that everyone was animated with good will, and that the atmosphere of the conference was a good augury for its complete success.

Interviewers passed from the hotel of Van Papen to that of Herriot, where, facing a crowded balcony with his back to a fence, the French Premier almost echoed the words of the German Chancellor, "I leave for Paris with a happy impression of the two days' work," he assured the newspaper men. "As a result of the good will shown by everybody and of the manifest good sense we now have a situation which in my view has hopeful promise."

TWENTY-FIVE DEAD AND FORTY INJURED IN TERRIFIC BLASTS

Rowboats went to their rescue. Two reporters, who arrived at the scene shortly after the fire fighting apparatus, braved the scorching heat and saved four men who were plunging about in the water.

In the meantime the flames, shooting out of the wall of the dry-dock, were playing on the steel plates of the Cymbeline like a gigantic torch. As the oil inside the vessel became hotter, a series of explosions occurred where workmen were trapped below.

FIRE CHIEF KILLED

Deaf to the warnings of men nearby, Chief Raoul Gauthier, of the Montreal fire department, led three of his men on to the ship in an heroic effort to save those below decks. "Well, men, come on," he cried and rushed toward the blazing companionway. There was another frightful explosion as the simmering oil in the vessel blew up. The blazing liquid threw a fiery cloak over the four men. A moment later the three firemen were dying before the horrified gaze of their comrades. Chief Gauthier had disappeared.

The known dead are ten, including the firemen, seventeen are missing and approximately forty are in hospital with injuries, many of them serious.

After extinguishing the fire and waiting until early afternoon for the steel plates to cool, firemen entered the vessel but were unable to penetrate far enough to recover any bodies.

Property damage has been estimated at from $500,000 to several million dollars.

Park Officials Select Calgary For Convention

The next convention of the International Association of Park Commissioners will be held in Calgary, it was learned last night in a telegram from Alderman John A. Worthington, Victoria's delegate to this year's convention, which was held in Tacoma.

W. R. Reader was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, Alderman Worthington reported. The convention, he said, had been an outstanding success, and many matters that will be helpful in the planning of park work in Victoria were discussed.

TREATY NEED IS EXPLAINED

woolen dress goods, fabrics and wearing apparel, the Canadian intermediate tariff, less 15 per cent of the amount of the duty.

OPEN TO OBJECTION

"In the course of the ten years which have elapsed since the convention came into force, it became apparent that it was open to serious objection from the standpoint of Canadian interests.

"In the first place, while Canada granted to France at least the lowest rates accorded to any other foreign country, Canada did not secure the French minimum tariff on a limited list of products. Second, under the agreement Canada granted fixed rates on an important list of French products, rates which would not be varied in spite of rapid changes in industrial and financial condition. France on the other hand accorded no fixed rates to any Canadian product, and was free to raise her tariff on Canadian products as the interests of France were considered to require—a freedom that was repeatedly exercised.

THIRD DRAWBACK

"A third drawback and one particularly serious from the administrative standpoint, was that under the provisions of most-favored-nation agreements, the benefits which Canada accorded to France under the convention were also extended to the following countries: Argentine Republic, Colombia, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Economic Union of Belgium and Luxembourg, colonies and possessions; Esthonia, Finland, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Lithuania, Netherlands, including the Netherlands Indies; Surinam and Curacao, Norway, Portugal, Rumania, Serb, Croat and Slovene Kingdom; Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Venezuela.

REVISION DISCUSSED

"In 1928 and 1929 discussions took place between the Canadian Government of the day and representatives of France looking to the revision of the existing convention, in accordance with the statement of the Hon. James Robb, Minister of Finance, in the House of Commons on April 16, 1928, 'We propose to take up with the French Government during this Summer the question of the revision of the treaty.' In 1930, after the present administration took office, the question was discussed in personal interviews and in diplomatic correspondence.

"The Canadian Government in June, 1931, made clear its opinion that it would be desirable to replace the convention by a new and more comprehensive agreement. The Government of France was not disposed to accede to our suggestions, and on December 16, 1931, the Canadian Government gave notice under the terms of the treaty of its termination in six months from that date.

DESIRE TO NEGOTIATE

"At the same time it assured the Government of France of its desire to negotiate without delay a new convention beneficial to the commerce of both countries. In the past few months efforts have been made to establish a modus vivendi on the understanding that negotiations for a new convention would be undertaken before the end of the present year, but these efforts have not met with success.

"Having regard to mutual advantages that would accrue under a treaty more in conformity with the situation at the present time and designed to encourage the importation of commodities which each country requires and which the other produces, the Canadian Government has indicated a willingness to pursue further negotiations to that end."

SCHOOL YEAR CLOSES WITH PRIZEGIVING

Many Attend Annual Speech Day Ceremonies at Victoria High School

RAYMOND GRAVLIN IS GIVEN LEADER CUP

Raymond Gravlin, Victoria High School matriculation student, received the "Leader Cup" for proficiency in school work and student activities yesterday afternoon at the annual Speech Day ceremonies held at the school. The auditorium was crowded with friends and students.

Presentation of the sports trophies won by students at the school opened the ceremonies. The girls' silverware was given to Peggy Brindle, senior champion; Teresa Lee Warner, intermediate titleholder, and C. Jesse, junior champion. Miss Adele McLeod, dean of women, made the presentations. Harry L. Smith, vice-principal, presented the boys' sports trophies to Murray Patrick, senior winner; Lorne McGregor, intermediate champion, and B. Halkett, junior titleholder.

The Portia Cup, donated by the Portia Debating Society, for girls was presented to Ruth McTavish, representing Division 4, by Miss McLeod. Joyce Applegate received the Modern History Club Shield for interschool debating on behalf of the high school.

PLEASING CEREMONY

One of the most pleasing ceremonies of the afternoon was the presentation of the Howard Russell Cup to Jack Fraser by Mrs. H. E. Young, who also requested Fraser to take the trophy to the archives of the Parliament Buildings, where the trophy is kept. Jack McLaughlin, of the Oak Bay High School, last year's winners, turned the cup over to Fraser at the request of Mrs. Young. Mr. Smith presented G. Ewan, of Division 13, with the Beta Delta debating pennant. The Girls' Choir Shield was presented to Grace White as representative of the school choir, which won the trophy at the recent Musical Festival. The girls' basketball trophy was given to Mary Wilson as captain of the squad.

Mrs. Young presented the May Tully Hockey Shield to Bertha Darby, and gave a brief resume of the trophy's history. F. Bell and Edward Young received the Cowichan and Curtis Junior Rugby Cups from Mr. Smith. The second-year swimming relay team, represented by Ivor Fuller, was presented with the Britannia Cup.

CHALLENGE CUP

Agnes Kennedy, president of Division 21, presented Lilian Stokes with the Division 21 Challenge Cup for winning the annual swimming gala. George Welburn received the boys' award.

The presentation of the "Leader Cup" was made by School Trustee J. M. Campbell to Raymond Gravlin. Before the presentation, Principal Dilworth gave a glowing account of Gravlin's activities at the school, showing that the lad had a fine academic record throughout his career at the high school, and that his active participation in school events made him the logical choice of the staff for the award. Gravlin took part in the high school play and was editor of the school magazine.

Professor Walter Gage, of the Victoria College, presented prizes to the highest students in mathematics in first and second years. The awards went to Kenneth Williams and Hing Hope.

for a few minutes, and then said: "There's just one more question I'm going to ask you gentlemen, and I want your undivided attention." He leaned behind the counter to pick up the cigar which he had dropped, and when he rose he presented a gun and ordered: "Up with them, all of you." The surprised employees complied, and he began binding them. He warned them his gun was equipped with a silencer. "I could kill all of you and nobody passing outside would hear a sound," he said.

Keeping up a constant chatter, he casually remarked that he was a former bank employee himself, and was wanted for the murder of a man who had tried to blackmail him in Vancouver.

"Take a good look at me," he suggested, before leaving. "Now, you will know me again."

At one time while he was gathering the cash, he directed attention to a policeman on point duty just across from the bank. "I'm robbing the bank under his nose," he remarked.

The bandit ordered the cab driver to take him to the head office of the Bank of Commerce. While they were going down Portage Avenue the cab passed two police cars, loaded with detectives, en route to the scene of the robbery.

Reaching the Bank of Commerce, the robber paid his fare and hurried along a side street.

HOSPITAL DEBT BEING CLEARED

Economies Are Effected to Reduce Jubilee Operating Costs, Board Learns

Further reductions in the current expenses of operating the Royal Jubilee Hospital are now being carried out with earnest endeavor and two-thirds of the floating indebtedness since December 31, 1931, has been paid, it was learned in a report from the finance committee presented at the meeting of the board of directors of the hospital last night. H. H. Shandley presided.

This action received favorable comment from the board members, who expressed their gratification at the fine spirit of co-operation which it indicated.

In the report of work for May, submitted at the meeting, it was stated that the total days' stay of hospital patients was 7,432, while an average of 240 patients a day were cared for during the month. Laboratory work was done to the value of $3,434, while the value of X-ray work totaled $3,275.

WINS HONOR

The medical superintendent, Dr. E. M. Pearse, reported that Miss Joyce H. Collett, of the Jubilee Hospital Training School for Nurses, had won first honors in the examinations for registered nurses out of a class of 142 applicants. He also stated that this honor was won by Miss Gladys Rae and Miss Hilda Burton, also of the Jubilee group, in 1931 and 1929, respectively. A letter of congratulations was ordered to be sent to Miss Collett, the members of the board expressing their satisfaction of her achievement.

A number of gifts to the hospital were gratefully acknowledged with thanks by the board.

She was born in South Shields, England, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past ten years, residing at Devonshire House, Fort Street. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. T. A. NARROW ESCAPE IN TRAIN WRECK

Passenger Coach Derailed on Brink of Deep Ravine Near Peace River

PEACE RIVER, Alta., June 17 (CP).—A dozen passengers and crew of an eastbound Northern Alberta Waterways train narrowly escaped being pitched 375 feet into a ravine two miles west of here late yesterday. Passengers and crew arrived here today, unhurt.

The train, comprising two loaded livestock cars, several freights and a passenger car, was derailed at the brink of the ravine. A freight car pitched off the track first, hauling five others with it. The passenger car and caboose came to a dead stop at the edge of a trestle, a few feet from almost certain death.

A defective rail is believed to be the cause of the wreck, and an investigation by railway officials is under way.

COURT UPHOLDS AWARD OF JURY

Cameron Lumber Co. Gets Judgment on New Motion of Counsel

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, in Supreme Court here yesterday, entered judgment in favor of the Cameron Lumber Company for $24,679.07, in accordance with the verdict of the special jury returned to the court on Tuesday evening last.

The judgment of yesterday morning sets aside a previous decision by Mr. Justice McDonald when he dismissed the action because it had been set up by Alfred Bull, counsel for the defendant companies, that the reasons given by the special jury for the verdict were faulty. Mr. Bull claimed the jury had made an error of $69,000 in the opening inventory, which they used as the basis of calculations in arriving at the final award.

JURY NOT IN ERROR

It later developed that the jury was not in error in its reasons, and E. C. Mayers, K.C., leading counsel for the lumber company, secured leave of the court to proceed on a new motion for judgment, which was heard yesterday morning, and in which he was wholly successful.

In dismissing the action when faced with what appeared to be conclusive evidence that error had occurred, Mr. Justice McDonald followed the usual practice, and nullified the jury's verdict.

The proceedings yesterday morning occupied barely five minutes of the court's time. Mr. Mayers read into the court record a communication he had received from Mr. Bull in which the defence counsel acknowledged he had not been properly instructed when he opposed the motion for judgment on Wednesday morning on the grounds of error. He admitted that on further examination of the figures contained in the jury's reasons he found his "position to be untenable" and would not further oppose judgment for the plaintiff company on those grounds. Mr. Mayers asked leave to place an affidavit in the record, but was refused.

OPPOSES MOTION

H. Alan Maclean, of Vancouver, who was acting for Mr. Bull, opposed the motion for judgment on legal grounds and asked permission to cite a number of cases. Mr. Justice McDonald advised him to save his "ammunition for a higher court."

The action between the Cameron Lumber Company and the group of insurance companies was for losses sustained when the company's plant was partly destroyed by fire in February, 1931. The original claim was for approximately $38,000.

The affair will take the form of a picnic on the island, and special transportation arrangements have been made for visitors wishing to attend. Invitations have been sent to Premier S. F. Tolmie, Attorney-General R. H. Pooley, Hon. S. L. Howe, honorary colonel of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish; C. H. Dickie, M.P. for Nanaimo, and Hon. C. F. SEEK CHANGE IN ELECTION

City Clerk Believes Deposit Should Be Posted by All Civic Candidates

Steps will be taken at the forthcoming Municipal Officers' Association convention at Nelson to bring into effect the deposit system in connection with the election of candidates in civic elections.

M. F. Hunter, city clerk of Victoria, will attend the convention and present a motion in connection with this matter for discussion by the delegates.

ASSURE SUPPORT

The principle involved is to prevent persons from running for election who have insufficient support. Quite frequently candidates run for civic office that do not obtain as many as a hundred votes. Mr. Hunter believes that if a $50 deposit were made a condition of candidature and the deposit forfeited if a certain percentage of the votes cast were not obtained, those seeking office would make sure that they had sufficient support before seeking nomination. In this way the cost of an election would be materially reduced.

If the proposal is endorsed by the municipal officers' convention, it will then be passed on to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities' convention for consideration.

LESSEN TIME LIMIT

Mr. Hunter also proposed to bring up other amendments to the Municipal Act dealing with elections. He will seek to revise the rules dealing with nominations. At present a candidate can withdraw up to twenty-four hours before polling day. This makes an election awkward in the case of a withdrawal inasmuch as ballots have been printed and other arrangements made which would be too late to revise in the case of such a withdrawal. Mr. Hunter will seek to limit withdrawals to within twenty-four hours of the time in which the nomination has been made.

Also in connection with nominations, Mr. Hunter will ask that the act be revised to make the nomination of out-of-town candidate by friends more binding by insisting that confirmation be received from the candidate, either by telegram or letter.

Letter of Thanks Received From Bishop's Widow

Mrs. Woods, the widow of the Bishop of Winchester, has replied to the letter of sympathy that was sent by the members of the local Mothers' Union Branch, expressing her appreciation of their kindly expression. The union had the inspiration of being addressed by Mrs. Woods during her visit here with her late husband on the occasion of the consecration of the cathedral.

The following paragraph from a circular letter sent by Mrs. Woods will interest all friends of this reverend father in God. "On the day he left us I was reading the eighty-seventh Psalm in Moffatt's version, at his request. When I stopped he said, 'But why does he leave out the last verse? I must have that,' and with a note of triumph he added, 'The singers and trumpeters shout: All my fresh springs are in Thee.' Within a few hours the trumpeters were sounding for him as he reached the other shore."

TO BE BURIED TODAY

The death occurred at the St. Joseph's Hospital, yesterday, of Mrs. Vera Helen Elley, of 1167 Comox Street, Vancouver, aged twenty-one years. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson, of "Pine Crest," Royal Oak, and one sister, Kathleen, in Vancouver. The funeral will take place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel this afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, proceeding to St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Royal Oak, where the service will be conducted at 3 o'clock by Rev. F. Comley. Interment will be made in St. Michael's Churchyard.

LAST RITES MONDAY

The funeral of Joseph Francis Hudlin, who passed away Thursday, will take place on Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Mortuary Chapel, under the auspices of Atlas Lodge, No. 21, A.F. & A.M. of Washington jurisdiction, of which lodge Mr. Hudlin was a past master. ASK SETTLEMENT IN POWER ISSUE

Government Delays Action, Pending Appeal to Principals in Interior Dispute

Failure of the Cabinet to agree this week on the disposition of the Grand Forks-West Kootenay power dispute, led to instructions to Hon. N. S. Lougheed to endeavor to negotiate a settlement of the issue with the principals in the issue.

A preponderance of the Cabinet was unofficially reported in favor of granting leave to the city of Grand Forks to go ahead with its power development plans.

This stand was also challenged, on the ground that it would set up a precedent of far-reaching consequences in the regulation of light and power enterprises in the province.

Pending negotiations with the principals, the Cabinet did not take final action in the matter.

IMPERIAL FREE PORTS

A proposal put forward by the local Chamber of Commerce, which it is hoped will be discussed and acted upon by the coming Imperial Conference, is to the effect that there should be a series of strategic free ports for Imperial purposes strung around the Empire. Very naturally the Chamber of Commerce believes that Victoria is ideally situated to be one of these, and the arguments it educes are convincing. In September, 1919, the local Board of Trade took up this matter with Ottawa, urging the establishment here of an area within which goods might be landed, stored, re-packed, manufactured and re-exported without Customs intervention. The contention at that time was not restricted to a free port for purely Imperial purposes. It was wider; with particular relation to the fact that the vessels of some Japanese lines called at Victoria but at no other port in British Columbia. Moreover, it was claimed at the time that Victoria has "a unique geographical position" as indicated by the aggregate tonnage of sea-going vessels entering and clearing here exceeding that of any other port in Canada.

The proposal it is hoped to lay before the Imperial Conference is for a string of Imperial free ports; in other words, a chain of "free trade islands in a sea of protection," specially established to foster the growth of Imperial trade. Perhaps the greatest example of what free ports mean is found in Germany where there are several. Hamburg is the largest, the free port area being 2,500 acres. Where there are free ports the area assigned for that purpose is geographically a part of the larger port area. There is something novel and appealing in the suggestion that a free port should be limited for Imperial purposes—to facilitate the distribution and the redistribution of Empire goods, where ships may enter and discharge, load and depart, without Customs formalities.

The proposal opens up substantial opportunities for the encouragement of Imperial trade, and arguments along this line have been assembled by the Chamber of Commerce. Moreover, the claims of Victoria is to be one of such a chain of Imperial free ports, have been built up in a convincing manner. The enterprise of the Chamber of Commerce in having brought this matter forword is worthy of every support, and it is one upon which the city should speak with a united voice. The argument can hardly fail to impress the Imperial Conference. It might well be that the ports to be specified could be named at the Ottawa gathering and established by subsequent legislation in the various parts of the Empire.

RESULT IN MANITOBA

Premier John Bracken, as head of a Progressive-Liberal Government, has received the sound endorsement of the voters at the Manitoban polls. His victory is more emphatic than it was in 1927. He thus enters upon his third term as leader of a Government. A little of his latest success was due to the coalition which he effected with the Liberals. At the same time, had he consulted the province purely on the record of the policies pursued by the Progressives, there is hardly a doubt that he would have been returned to power. Evidently public sentiment in Manitoba has changed hardly a whit in the last five years. The people are satisfied with Premier Bracken, with his financial administration, with the manner in which his Government has handled the unemployment problem, and are satisfied also with his low tariff attitude, although that has nothing to do with provincial politics.

The showing of the Conservatives under Colonel F. G. Taylor has been most disappointing. They had fifteen members in the last Legislature. They will be fortunate if they have two-thirds of that number in the next. It was in the cities that they did best; the rural constituencies still maintain their faith in the politics of the Progressives. The Liberals taken into the Cabinet fared badly, which may be regarded as an indication that the people do not favor coalition. The leader of the Liberals, Dr. Murdock Mackay, was defeated in Springfield, and the Conservative leader, Colonel F. G. Taylor, triumphed over Mr. Ewan McPherson in Portage la Prairie. The result is undoubtedly a vindication of Mr. Bracken's personal popularity and belief in his success as an administrator. It is no small triumph for a Government to strengthen its position in power in these times through the medium of an appeal at the polls.

BROADCASTING IN THE UNITED STATES

The United States has had a Radio Commission inquiring into broadcasting, but in its report it expresses no opinion on any advantages that public ownership may possess. It leaves the impression that public ownership is not desirable, and that is the basis of a finding in a country which has made greater advances than any other in radio broadcasting. It is noted that at present there are no Government-owned stations in the United States and that public ownership would involve many problems, "including sectional and state interests, as well as the important matter of financing." The commission is willing, if assigned to the duty, to prepare plans for the socialization of radio, but it stops short with a recommendation that the subject should be thoroughly studied.

In the face of this report The Montreal Gazette points out that the Canadian Parliament, "with far less experience and information upon which to rely, has not hesitated in committing the taxpayers of Canada to what is certain to be a very difficult and costly experiment, and it has done this with obviously insufficient attention to the matter of financing." The American Commission claims that a system of 1,000 low-powered stations would cost $120,000,000, while two or more national programmes broadcast through several high-powered stations in strategic locations would cost approximately $50,000,000. The existing stations, including those described as chain-owned, represent an investment of $47,000,000.

At present in the American broadcasting system receipts about balance expenditures, and the Radio Commission points out that the system as a whole is dependent upon commercial advertising for its financial support. Obviously the commission in the United States has gone about its work very carefully and has not reached any hurried conclusions. On the other hand, Parliament in this country advanced with careless haste in decreeing a state-owned system, a haste which, says The Montreal Gazette, "is all the more extraordinary in view of this country's painful and costly experience in another field of public ownership. Unhappily, the thing has been done, and all that is left for the public is to pay, and go on paying."

EXPERTS AND GOLD STANDARD

A committee of experts derived from the League of Nations has been considering monetary problems. That committee unanimously decided that the gold standard is desirable. The majority of the committee has insisted that there is a very great desirability for agreement on a common world standard. A point of interest is that the committee has rejected bimetallism, and other commodity standards, as inferior to gold. There is a realization that at present, owing to world conditions, it would be impossible to restore the gold standard in those countries which have temporarily suspended it. Canada is not one of those countries. This Dominion is paying her foreign gold obligations in gold and has only gold to measure prices.

It is conceivable that Canada, along with other countries, may be driven off the gold standard. That would not be a desirable thing. It is conditions of adversity that have driven other countries to suspension. The aggravation in this country has not been great enough and the hope is that it never will. The committee of experts at Geneva has come to the conclusion that a fall from the gold basis is a bad thing, and it is obvious that it is the monetary ambition of every nation to return to a gold standard when the opportunity is ripe.

There are some leaders of American thought who have pointed unerringly to the greater needs that exist in times of depression. Standing beside the grave of the Unknown Soldier in the United States, ex-President Coolidge said: "We do not need more national development; we need more spiritual development. We do not need more intellectual power; we need more spiritual power. We do not need more knowledge; we need more character. We do not need more government; we need more culture. We do not need more law; we need more religion."

One reason that may be advanced why the British Columbia loan for $7,500,000, recently launched in London, was a success, is that in the last ten years there has been no default on borrowings within the Empire. In that period Britain loaned £543,000,000 within the Empire and £203,000,000 to foreign countries. Of the latter sum interest is in default on £145,000,000, or approximately three-quarters of the money loaned abroad. This is an indication to the British people that it is by far the better investment to lend money within the Empire.

FREE STATE AND BRITAIN

If the Oath Bill goes through, Free State goods seeking an entry into the British market will have to bear the full tariff applicable to those by foreign nations. This will be a severe blow to Free State cross-channel trade. If, after such a warning, the Free State chooses to make a rod for its own back, be it so. Whatever line of action any of the overseas Dominions may take, the British Government's course is clear. Until the Free State, through the present or any future Government, is prepared to honor its pledged word, Great Britain will say, "No negotiations with treaty-breakers."—Belfast Northern Whig.

THE WAKING

The singing of the birds has come,
The laughter of the wind,
And speech is given to the dumb
And vision to the blind!

Here in the hollow of the hills,
Beside the running streams—
Where children gather daffodils
And lovers gather dreams.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

For forme of government let fools contest;
Whate'er is best administer'd is best.
—Pope.

Our oracular journalistic contemporary the editor of The Winnipeg Free Press has been suffering from an acute attack of political dyspepsia ever since the day after the late Dominion general election. Mr. Dafoe probably would have been in a more cheerful state of mind today if Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King had won that fateful election; he might even have been in a more amiable and hopeful state of mind if his Federal Liberal leader had accepted his advice and postponed the election until the circumstances appeared to be more favorable for a victory for the late Liberal Government. But Mr. King is in his way as obstinate in his opinion of his judgment as Mr. Dafoe is confident of the superiority of his abilities as the leader of political, social and economic thought or events.

Mr. King "went to the country" in defiance of the counsel of Mr. Dafoe. The Liberal Government was defeated, and Mr. Dafoe ever since has been proclaiming the doctrine that party politics has been the curse of Canada and that the country can be saved only by abolishing the party system of government and adopting a system recommended by the ordained oracle, of which of course Mr. Dafoe is the prophet and high priest. If Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King had been elected instead of being defeated, Mr. Dafoe would not have been afflicted by that terrible scourge, political dyspepsia and would have discerned no necessity for the abolition of the party system of government and the adoption of a non-party system of government.

At least we submit that the above outline of the situation is justified by what has happened in the Prairie Provinces. It is but fair to premise that The Winnipeg Free Press is a very important newspaper and has long wielded great influence in the three Prairie Provinces. It is equally fair to admit that it was largely through the influence of Mr. Dafoe and his newspaper that the party system of government was abolished by the electors of the Prairie Provinces and a non-party system adopted in its stead. An alleged non-party system of government has been given a fair trial in the province of Manitoba, was given a fair trial for a time in the province of Saskatchewan, and is still on trial in the province of Alberta.

But it is equally evident that the non-party system of government in the Prairie Provinces did not eliminate party politics, for political partizanship has been quite as pronounced and acute under the so-called non-party form of government as under the orthodox system of government. The high cost of government has not been reduced under the system advocated by Mr. Dafoe as a sure and sovereign cure for all the political and economic ills of the people. On the contrary, the cost of government in the Prairie Provinces is higher than in any other province of the Dominion and the rate of taxation higher too. The party system still prevails, and will prevail under any system or form of government and administration. You may change the names of parties, but they will still remain political parties.

You may form a government and declare it a non-party government, but immediately a government is formed, just as certainly as there are differences of opinion between individuals there will be differences of opinion between masses of people, and there will be an opposition to a government. Wherever there is a governing party there will be an opposition party. If Mr. Dafoe or any of his disciples and admirers had the courage to adopt the system of Mussolini, who suppresses by force any opposition to his system they might have a chance of establishing in the provinces of Canada or in the Dominion a government which had the unanimous support of the people.

Of course there is a reason for the pessimism, borne of political dyspepsia, of the prairie oracle and leader. The Free Press was a Liberal newspaper in the days of the great Laurier and the influential Sifton. It was more or less Liberal in the days when Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King was a political power in the land—that is, in the days before the true status of Mr. King became apparent to the people of Canada. But the political bladder of the Liberal leader has been punctured and deflated. The Liberal Party of Manitoba, where an election is proceeding today, has been swallowed by the Progressive Party led by Mr. Bracken. Mr. Dafoe is shrewd enough to perceive that Liberalism in Canada is a spent political force. It survives only in the province of Quebec, and the vitality it possesses there is due to the leaven of Conservatism which is a racial characteristic of the people of that province. It is dead in Ontario, where the Beauharnois revelations administered its death blow. That is why Mr. Dafoe has declared that the condition of Canada is hopeless and that salvation can be achieved only by the formation of a non-party form of government. But both the leader of the new political crusade and the form of government he advocates have been completely discredited and confounded by the deplorable condition to which two of the Prairie Provinces have been reduced under a so-called non-party system of administration.

COMBAT EVASION OF MILLIONS IN TAXES

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The United States House of Representatives ways and means committee yesterday approved a resolution intended to prevent the evasion of about $17,000,000 in taxes on 70,000,000 gallons of gasoline and oil now being transferred by producers and consumers.

The resolution proposes another amendment to the new tax law so as to levy 1c a gallon on gasoline imports, if the owner has, on June 21, more than 25,000 gallons in storage, and 4c a gallon on imported lubricating oil if the owner holds more than 1,000 gallons.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

HAND IN HAND

Of all the griefs by which the heart is torn,
Of all the loss and stain,
No anguish is too weighty to be borne
When two can share the pain.

There is no gleam too far, no night too dark
For eager eyes to see,
When two together seek hope's golden spark
Through care's obscurity.

Each rosebud grows the fairer, and each song
Of lark and thrush more clear,
When through life's gardens two can pass along
Through joyous year on year.

The human heart is such a happy thing,
So tranquil and elate,
That all the vexing goads must lose their sting
When it has found its mate.

We can defy life's blackest Wintry gale,
Life's fiercest desert sand;
Before no stress of circumstance we quail
When two go hand in hand!

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

TEST OF RELIGION

Sir,—To a novice it must be a well-night hopeless task when scanning the church page of our newspapers to decide which of the many advertised religions is the right one, for they all claim to be this, yet some of them are decidedly antagonistic to each other. As the test is in "a" taste and not in the eating of the whole pudding, so with the various religions. The answer to "one" question and not the studying of all the tenets of the numberless religions will make it clear "who is on the Lord's side":

"What think ye of Christ?"

Claiming to belong to a Christian country, we take Christ and His Written Word as our sole authority. Not a partial Bible, to accept or reject that which suits our whims, but the whole, unadulterated Bible; not a Christ to be used as we see fit, but the Christ of God invested with all His attributes and prerogatives; the Christ "by Whom all things were made; and without Whom not any thing was made that was made."

All religions not fully honoring His Son are equally abhorrent to God, and none can claim Him as his own who denies one or all of the fundamental truths concerning His deity, His incarnation, His virgin birth, the efficacy of His shed blood on Calvary's cross, His physical resurrection, His ascension and His bodily and visible return.

While on earth our Lord asked His disciples a pertinent question: "Whom do men say that I, the Son of man, am?" Some said: "John the Baptist, Elias, Jeremiah or one of the prophets"—they all conceded that He must be some great person; none, however, acknowledged Him as the Creator of all creatures. Whereupon our Lord asked His disciples: "But Whom say ye that I am?" This question drew from the illiterate fisherman, Peter, the incomparable and inspired answer which none of the religious masters of Israel could give: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God!" to which Christ replied: "Blessed art thou, Peter, for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but My Father which is in heaven."

But what does God say in the matter of His Son's deity? "Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, for whosoever denieth the Son, the same has not the Father!" but "he that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him!"

"What think ye of Christ?"

VICTORIA PROPERTY

Sir,—As the columns of your paper seem always open to your readers, I feel the urge to send you a few lines to ask what is the matter with the residents of Victoria that they do not seem to have the interest to acquire any property, even when offered at bargain prices. I am not the only one who has complained of this, so think the fact is worthy of mention, and maybe some of the residents will wake up and appreciate what they have.

For over a year, at different times, I have offered an acre for sale on a corner that makes eight good lots; and what I would consider being close in, being only three miles out. They are large lots, and my price a little over $60 a lot. There have been no inquiries of any sort or kind to my various advertisements. Compare this with prices and conditions here, and we are considered to be going through a bad depression, too.

There is a large subdivision here of hundreds of acres sold in 25 x 125 foot lots, no gas or electricity available, eleven miles from one town and eight miles to a smaller town; really sand lots in the midst of many acres of sage brush, and to reach this property one wades through mounds of sand, as there are no proper roads to it—and yet they are selling! One hundred dollars a lot is the very lowest, and those more desirable run into hundreds of dollars. There are no high pressure methods used here to account for it, like have been used farther south.

I should think property in a city like Victoria, with all the utilities and good roads, would have much more to recommend it and a far greater incentive for people to buy, if only as an investment. Is it climate that makes the difference, or a want of faith and interest in the people in what they have?

EMPIRE CURRENCY

Sir,—I notice with great pleasure the prominence given in your last Tuesday's edition to the opinions expressed by Gen. A. D. McRae and by Mr. John F. Darling, director of the Midland Bank, England. They furnish a suitable antidote to the unconvincing editorials recently running in your paper, which have in turn been ably dealt with by your correspondent, A. B. Sanders.

The cheerful optimists who think that the world's economic depression and stagnation of business and industry with consequent unemployment and dire distress will gradually or suddenly right itself, without any drastic change in our currency, steadily refuse to face the major facts and conditions as they exist at present and so delay the formation of unanimous public opinion desirable before proper remedies can be applied.

The estimated debts of the world are about six hundred "illions of dollars and the stocks of gold available, and then only with a more enlightened policy of some great countries, are only something under eleven billions of dollars. The interest charges alone on these colossal debts would require the use of approximately half the world's supply of the yellow metal if they are to be liquidated in currency. Debts and interest cannot be paid in goods and services if creditors won't buy the debtors' product and at prices above cost of production.

Governments, public bodies and many individuals may not have been spending too much, but they have been spending what they had not got. They have contracted to pay in gold for paper credits furnished by the creditor countries and financial houses.

Various Canadian Governments and municipal bodies have been borrowing steadily for many years from United States financial houses. They did not receive the gold for their bonds; that remained in the United States to liquidate in some degree our adverse balance of trade—about $400,000,000 annually.

They did not borrow the gold, but they have to pay in gold, both principal and interest, and what Canada has been doing so likewise other countries have been doing, and now most of the world's countries are bankrupt and there is an actual as well as an artificial scarcity of gold to conduct the world's business.

All countries have built tariff walls in a desperate effort to keep as much gold as possible at home. We have now, as a result, underconsumption, stagnation of business and unemployment, with such low prices for nearly all staple products that the producer cannot make a living wage.

It appears as if our Prairie Provinces will be blessed with good crops, but with the price of the best milling wheat about fifty-eight or sixty cents at Fort William and thirty-eight to forty-two cents at shipping points — less for lower grades—the purchasing power of our Prairie farmers will be almost nil and many will hardly be able to pay interest on their mortgages.

Will the apostles of the gold standard kindly tell us why forty cents worth of gold should buy at shipping point one bushel of wheat which cost about eighty cents to produce?

Gold as a commodity only to be used in the arts is not worth one-tenth of its present price, as there would be a tremendous surplus of it, but as currency it has an artificial value because there is not enough of it to conduct the world's business and liquidate interest and debts.

Three-fifths of the world's population in the Orient and in South America use silver as currency and have done so for thousands of years. Their purchasing power in America and Europe has been so much curtailed by the relative low price of silver to gold that our economic troubles have been greatly intensified, and if the British Empire at the forthcoming conference at Ottawa adopts the plan outlined by Mr. Darling and legalizes a currency with silver as well as gold backing, we may look for a great revival of profitable trade with those countries.

There is no need to wait for a world conference. The British Empire can take the lead and other countries in their own interests will have to follow. With an adequate supply of currency, prices of all commodities will advance to a profitable level, debts can be paid, consumption increased and unemployment reduced to insignificant proportions.

If the Ottawa conference fails to take such a course, there is very little hope or comfort to be derived from a continued worship of the golden calf.

Honors Governor and Premier With Degrees

LENNOXVILLE, Que., June 17.—The University of Bishop's College, at the completion of its seventy-ninth year yesterday, honored the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada; Prime Minister R. B. Bennett; Canon A. P. Gowerrees, Montreal; Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary of Quebec, and Aime Geoffrion, K.C., Montreal, with degrees of doctor of civil laws, honoris causa.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of June 18, 1882)

Fire Destroys School.—The Collegiate School, one of the oldest and best known institutions of its kind in the Province, was completely destroyed by a fire which broke out in the east wing of the building early yesterday morning. Only a few minor articles were saved. The building was insured for only one-third of its estimated value.

A Modern Heroine.—By sheer courage and presence of mind, Mrs. M. W. T. Drake robbed the sea of an intended victim yesterday when she rowed a small skiff out into the arm of the harbor and rescued a young man who had been thrown into the water by the capsizing of his sailing boat. After bringing him to shore, Mrs. Drake applied artificial respiration for one hour until he regained consciousness.

Madame Rive-King.—Madame Rive-King, credited by many as being the greatest living pianiste, is expected to arrive in this city within the next few days, and during her stay here will give a performance at the Theatre Royal. This is an opportunity to hear a great artist that no one can afford to neglect.

Esquimalt News.—A meeting of the electors of Esquimalt district will be held in the Four-Mile House on Saturday night, to elect representatives for the local House.

RICHARD ARLEN IN PILOT ROLE

"Sky Bride," Now at Dominion, Has Popular Star at Head of Cast

When Richard Arlen takes to the air in "Sky Bride," his newest picture for Paramount, which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre, it will be his first appearance in an aviation film since "Wings," the production that started him on the road to screen fame.

It was "Wings" that installed three players in the fore ranks of film popularity. Like Arlen, Gary Cooper and Charles "Buddy" Rogers greatly increased their following through their performances in the picture. Twice since "Wings," Gary has appeared in air pictures, in "The Legion of the Condemned" and with Colleen moore in "Lilac Time." "Buddy" played the chief role in "Young Eagles," following his air debut in "Wings."

Arlen is thoroughly at home in the air. He was a combat pilot with the Royal Flying Corps during the World War. "Sky Bride" unites once more Arlen, Jack Oakie, and Charles Starrett, who featured in "Touchdown." Virginia Bruce has the feminine lead and Robert Coogan, child prodigy of "Sooky," has an important part.

PLAYHOUSE

CAPITOL THEATRE Jean Hersholt, who plays Senf, the hotel clerk, in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Grand Hotel," which is showing for the last times today at the Capitol Theatre, is Danish by birth. He wanted to become a painter, and studied art for many years before he decided that he was more interested in becoming an actor. His rise to prominence on the European stage was rapid, and after coming to America he took a position in the front rank of screen character actors. In addition to "Grand Hotel" he has appeared recently in "Susan Lennnox," "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" and "Emma."

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Four smashing musical numbers were composed by Oliver Drake and Herbert Meyers for the Cliff Broughton production, "Rogue of the Rio Grande," the feature at the Playhouse Theatre. Myrna Loy's splendid singing voice is heard to exceptional advantage, and her effective delivery aids considerably in making these tunes the success that they are.

ROMANO THEATRE It is good to see James Hall again and in such an agreeable role as that of David Talbot in "Mother's Millions," which is playing at the Romano Theatre this week. James Hall has the record for long engagements in moving pictures. Usually, if they last six months, that's a lot of engagement. His engagement in "Hell's Angels" lasted two and a half years.

Wynne Gibson to Show at Capitol

Wynne Gibson has attained stellar prominence in the role of Clara Deane, in the picture drama "The Strange Case of Clara Deane," coming to the Capitol Theatre Monday for three days.

The role, one of the most coveted in filmdom, is of the same calibre as the feminine lead in "Madam X," "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" and "Sarah and Son."

Within a single year Miss Gibson has risen from mipor parts to featured roles. Her work in "The Gang Buster" won her a featured player contract. She has worked to screen prominence through "June Moon," "Man of the World," "Kick In" and other pictures.

MAKE PRESENTATION

NANAIMO, June 17.—J. R. McKenzie was presented with a smoking and crib outfit by Nanaimo Encampment, No. 4, I.O.O.F., last evening after its camp meeting, when they adjourned to the dining hall where ice cream and strawberries were partaken of, after which speeches and songs were indulged in under the chairmanship of Brother John Moore. Brother William Carmichael made the presentation to Mr. McKenzie, who left this morning for Vancouver en route to Scotland on a visit.

REALISTIC DRAMA AT EMPIRE TODAY

Twentieth Century Youth Is Depicted in "Are These Our Children?"

A whole motion picture organization put its complete resources and studio behind the filming of "Are These Our Children?" to give the atregoers their first authentic and truthfully realistic drama of twentieth century youth.

RKO Radio Pictures, producers of the film which opens today at the Empire Theatre, sacrificed nothing to guarantee its realism. Wesley Ruggles' original story was authenticated with months of research before the film was put into production under the guidance of the industry's greatest minds. It was the studio's intention to make of "Are These Our Children?" a worthy successor to last year's epic of empire, the highly regarded "Cimarron."

COLUMBIA THEATRE Local playgoers, who remember the excellent performances of Chic Sale and tiny Dickie Moore in "Star Witness," will be delighted to again see the inimitable team in "The Expert," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. Others prominent in the large cast are Lois Wilson, Earle Foxe, Ralf Harolde, Adrienne Dore, May Boley, Dorothea Wolbert, Charles Evans, Walter Catlett, Noel Francis and Elizabeth Patterson.

PREMIER TOLMIE OFF FOR EAST

Provincial Settlement on Transients Desired by British Columbia

Armed with briefs for discussion at Regina and Ottawa, Premier Tolmie took the afternoon boat to the Mainland yesterday, planning to return to Victoria by June 30. The Premier will spend one day at Regina, where on June 20 he is to take part in the meeting of Western Premiers. He will arrive at Ottawa on June 22 and will spend three days at the Dominion capital before returning home.

One of the points that may be tentatively taken up at the Regina gathering is the desire of this province for settlement of treatment to be accorded to transients, of which British Columbia absorbed more than 11,000 last year from other parts of Canada. Cheap rail fares to permit these men to return to Prairie homes for harvesting, and common agreement between provinces to stop the drifting of unemployed men are other proposals that may be advanced at the meeting.

CONFERENCE AIMS

The main purpose of the Regina gathering, however, is to consider on what ground all four Western Provinces can combine their aims in regard to the Imperial Economic Conference, to be held in July at Ottawa. It is on Conference business that Premier Tolmie will go on to the Federal capital, where he is to head a British Columbia lumber delegation.

According to present plans, the Premier hopes to be back in this city before July 1.

KIDD COMMITTEE TO REPORT SOON

Call for Departmental Information Sent Out by Group Examining B.C. Affairs

Early presentation of the report of the Kidd committee on provincial affairs is being anticipated, following a hurried call at the Legislative Buildings yesterday for completion of all data asked for by the committee from the various departments of the Government.

The report, it has been already said, will be placed in the hands of the Government by the end of this month. It is unofficially expected to include extensive debt schedules, and possibly recommendations for the combining of two or more provincial services.

Informal request for an audience with members of the Government was made by the committee this week. While no definite arrangements for the meeting had been made, Premier Tolmie expected to meet members of the committee on his way through Vancouver to Regina last evening; while Hon. J. W. Jones crossed to the Mainland last night.

Present Academic Awards To High School Students

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, Officiates at Annual Oak Bay Ceremony, Attended by Many Parents and Visitors

Academic prizes won by pupils of the Oak Bay High School during the past year were presented to their respective winners at an impressive ceremony yesterday, when officials of the province and the municipality and a large gathering of parents attended.

The prizes were presented by Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, who gave a short address prior to the presentation.

G. M. Billings, principal, reviewed the past year's activities at the institution, stating that a most successful year had been experienced both in academic work and sport.

COMMENTS ON WORK

Dr. C. Maconachie, chairman of the municipal board of school trustees, commented on the work in the matriculation year, giving figures which indicated a high standard of study throughout the term.

Following the presentation of prizes, Albert Sullivan, provincial inspector of high schools, delivered an inspiring talk to the students on the value of school associations and the groundwork which their studies gave them for later life. To the matriculation students who will leave the school at the end of the term, he wished every success when they undertook their duties as citizens of the country.

EDUCATION HEAD HEARD

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe also spoke to the gathering. School Trustee S. J. Drake moved a vote of thanks to the Minister of Finance for accepting the invitation to present the prizes. GIVES ACCOUNT OF CHURCH WORK

Thomas Humphries Returns to Victoria After Attending Presbyterian Assembly in London

A report on the work transacted at the eight-day session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at London, Ont., was received yesterday from Thomas Humphries, clerk of the Presbytery of Victoria, who recently returned from the gathering at which he represented this city.

Regarding the situation in Knox College, Mr. Humphries stated: "The question resolved itself into the fitness of two men for their respective positions, one in an administrative capacity, the other as a teacher. The investigating committee, after a very exhaustive inquiry, realized the need for a change in the two positions referred to, and in the report so recommended. This finding was accepted by the assembly with a very small minority voting in the negative." Mr. Humphries was a member of the investigating committee.

UNDER MISAPPREHENSION

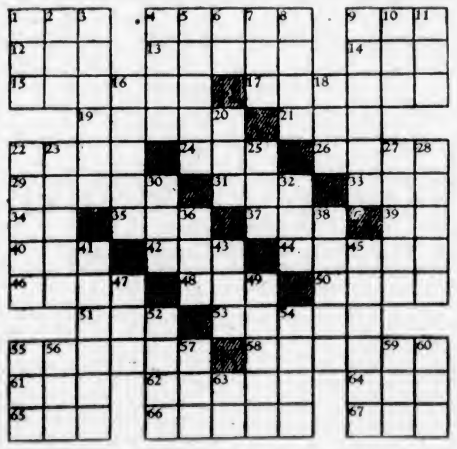

Many people were also under a misapprehension in regard to the assembly's action in declining to receive a delegation from the United Church, Mr. Humphries said. He wished it understood that the sole reason for that was because the United Church did not recognize the assembly as being one from the Presbyterian Church in Canada. This was borne out by the fact that a letter was read from the United Church protesting the use of the name, he stated.

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP

Dealing with the general work of the church, Mr. Humphries stated that 7,447 persons had been received into membership during the past year on profession of faith, and 3,049 of these were from the Sabbath school. The total membership is now 181,000. Nearly $4,000,000 was contributed during the year, $180,000 of which was for missionary and benevolent purposes.

The enrollment in Sabbath schools was 130,721; officers and teachers, 12,284, and cradle roll, 14,874. The number of young people's societies increased by fifty-seven with an increase in membership of 563. Glowing tribute was paid to the splendid results accomplished by the Women's Missionary Society.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

It is a wise maxim to follow: "Look ahead!"

But, as there are always exceptions to all rules, so in this respect is there also an exception to the sage advice, look ahead.

"How come?" said Rover, breaking into the vernacular, "when is it expedient to look behind?"

"When you pass through swinging doors, Rover, such as the entrances and exits at Spencer's or the Hudson's Bay Stores, or at the General postoffice, or at any of the hotels, and at other places where such doors are installed."

"You see, someone may be just behind you, and when you calmly pust a door open to pass through the portal, and don't take the trouble to look behind, and let the blamed door go, it bangs to in someone's face, which is not nice for the someone in question, also it is not polite, or considerate, or the right thing to do."

"However, Rover, as you and I both know, it is far too frequently done, much to the annoyance of the party behind, who is apt to take affront at the thoughtlessness of the party in front.

"Even Peter, the arch-potterer par excellence, is apt to forget to hold a door open a moment and turn to see if someone is close behind, and we have so often urged him to look ahead at most times, but to look behind when going through a doorway."

"It seems to be a common complaint, master; perhaps, however, it is only common people who cause us to make this complaint today."

COMMITTEES

In the course of the past strenuous fifty years, we have seen working (and nonworking) committees of many kinds, and we have observed that in the majority of cases the onus of responsibility usually rests on the broad shoulders of one or two willing slaves to duty, who, often as not, get little or no thanks for all their mighty good hard work.

We have known committees who don't know enough to come in out of the rain, and some committees who allow someone else, not on the committee, to do all the work, but who take all the credit, if any is coming, to themselves. Such is life!

But the committee in charge of the cricket matches, Australians versus Vancouver Island, on Saturday and Monday, has not left anything undone. It has worked hard, conscientiously, continuously, and deserves all the credit for the exceptional opportunity afforded to us Victorians in the visit of the Australians and the splendid chance we all have of seeing some A1 cricket at the best cricket ground on the Island, and here's to the members of the committee.

We would not wish to particularize, as each member of the various committees has laid himself out to give us the very best, untiringly and efficiently, but we cannot help saying that the indefatigable honorary secretary, Frank Allwood, deserves the best thanks of all cricketers, and of all who witness and enjoy the two matches at the University School grounds on Saturday and Monday. We take our hats off to Frank and his co-workers on the committee!

Cougar Is Myth; Collie Dog Frightens Children

Police Scour Victoria West for Hungry Animal but Only Find Canine—Believe Beast to Have Sprouted Wings as Reports Flood Office

Victoria's cougar has been "treed."

It appears that the reports of a hungry, tawny beast roaming the streets of the city are purely of a mythical character and may be credited to what is known in newspaper parlance as the "crazy season" or period during which all kinds of freak stories originate.

Armed with sawed-off shotguns and heavy sporting rifles, Constables West Harper and James Strong hurried to the Victoria West district last night on a report from J. W. Okell, of 413 Springfield Street, that the cougar had been seen near Russell's Station, on the E. & N. Railway.

SEARCH BUSHES

When they arrived on the scene, some boys directed them to the bushes in which the cougar had disappeared. The police officers entered the bushes and presently heard an animal crashing through the undergrowth, but when they got to the clearing on the other side all they could find was a large, yellow collie dog running as fast as it could go to a nearby home. After making sure that it was a dog, police returned to the station, where the desk sergeant was relieved to hear that the cougar was merely a myth.

Ever since the first report was received, police have been kept busy responding to alarms and allaying the fears of terrified residents.

ANIMAL TRAVELS

The animal was first seen in the Victoria West district four days ago. On Wednesday night it was seen in Beacon Hill Park. Yesterday morning children reported seeing it in the gardens of St. Ann's Convent Kindergarten school, while in the afternoon it was again reported in the Esquimalt district.

After last night's chase, police came to the conclusion that there were either a good number of dogs that looked like cougars, or that the animal had sprouted wings and was able to cover territory at a remarkable speed, judging from the reports from widely separated districts.

WATER MAIN IS NEARLY READY

Thirty-Inch Connection Well Up to Schedule, City Engineer Reports

Work of installing the thirty-inch water main, which connects the Goldstream waterworks system with that from Sooke Lake, is nearing completion, it was announced yesterday by F. M. Preston, water commissioner and city engineer.

The pipe has been connected as far as the Point Ellice Bridge, which is practically 6,000 feet from the starting point. Work of laying the main should be completed by the end of the week, when connection at the Gorge Road junction will be commenced. The entire programme is expected to be finished by the end of this month, when the water will be turned into the new twenty-inch feeder main.

This feeder main will boost the pressure throughout the east part of the city and maintain the pressure in the residential districts when the consumption in the downtown area is heavy.

It is expected that a balance of several thousand dollars will be shown when all work is completed. Mr. Preston was not prepared to say just how much would be left over from the original $465,000 estimate, because emergencies might arise that would wipe this out before the work is completed.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sittings

Johnson (R) vs. Solloway, Mills & Co., Ltd., et al. (A)—The hearing of this appeal was concluded yesterday. Respondent, who was trustee of a bankrupt company, sued appellants for damages for breach of trust and for the return of moneys paid to appellants. It was alleged that the company had employed appellant company as its broker in stock exchange transactions. Marginal payments and securities had been deposited from time to time. Respondent contended that the transactions alleged to have been entered into were not actually carried out. Appellants other than appellant company were parties to the action on the grounds that they were participants in the transactions.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

SEEK EXTENSION OF RELIEF PLAN

Burnaby Experience With Co-operative Movement Is Described to Provincial Officials

D. G. Macdonald, president of the movement in Burnaby area known as the Army of Common Good, a co-operative organization for the relief of the unemployed, interviewed officials of the Provincial Government yesterday, with the proposal that Provincial recognition and assistance be given to its plans.

Wood cutting and land clearing has been co-operatively undertaken by the organization, which has a membership of some 700 men. For a capital outlay of $300, work was provided by the group for 100 of its members, by the clearing of eighteen acres of land and the cutting of 100 cords of wood.

Numbers of these men would be willing to settle on the land if given the necessary assistance, Mr. Macdonald stated, in an interview with relief officials. Provincial assistance by way of relief funds is sought.

Detailed explanation of the proposals was left with the subcommittee on unemployment relief by Mr. Macdonald.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

ESTABLISHING DUMMY'S SUIT

The question of re-entries into a hand, after a suit has been established upon which losing cards in other suits may be discarded, is always one of vital importance. It is one of the many reasons why a careful plan for the play of the hand should be made as soon as the contracting is ended and the first lead made by the opposing player.

An interesting example of the careful planning of the play of the dummy was given recently at the Tri-State Bridge Tournament at Uniontown, Pa., Mrs. Harry E. Potts being the only player holding the South cards, to make the game in hearts which was bid by practically all North and South partnerships.

West—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

	♠ K Q 9 7 5 ♡ Q J 6 ◇ A 6 ♣ A 8 4
♠ A 8 6 3 ♡ 10 5 ◇ Q 10 9 5 ♣ K J 7	N W E S	♠ J 10 ♡ 9 8 2 ◇ K J 8 7 2 ♣ Q 9 5
	♠ 4 2 ♡ A K 7 4 3 ◇ 4 3 ♣ 10 6 3 2

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♡	Pass	3♡(1)	Pass
4♡(2)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. North's hand appears very strong, but in measuring its rebid value, it contains only one raise for partner's takeout. The spade suit, of course, is not rebiddable. The alternative bid would be no trump. Game at no trump cannot be made against the strongest defence.

2. South's rebid is justified.

The opening lead was the five of diamonds, which was won with the ace in dummy, and Mrs. Potts planned her play for what seemed a reasonably easy hand, particularly if West held the spade ace. The solidity of the trump suit seemed assured, and if the spades could be readily established, losers in clubs could be discarded on established low cards in that suit.

The queen of hearts was then led from dummy, and a small heart led to the closed hand. When both East and West followed to the second round of hearts, Mrs. Potts knew that she was not faced with an unfavorable division of trumps. She then led a small spade, which West refused to win. The trick was won with the king in dummy, East dropping the ten.

The question of making the game now depended upon driving out the spade ace before the club ace was taken from the dummy. The drop of the ten, while it might possibly mean a singleton, appeared improbable, due to the distribution of the dummy and South hands. Mrs. Potts decided that the most probable distribution of the spades was two in the East hand and four in the West, the West holding probably including the ace. She, therefore, now led the spade queen, and when the knave of spades dropped from the East hand, the success of her plan of play seemed assured. West won the trick with the ace, and returned a club to remove an entry from the dummy. The ace was played, the five of spades returned and ruffed with the heart king in the closed hand. East's last trump was then picked up by leading a small heart to the knave, which has been retained in the dummy as an essential re-entry, and two clubs discarded on the new established spades, thereby making the contract of four-odd, which was attainable by no other line of play.

TODAY'S POINTER

The question of retaining a means of entry into one hand or the other—that is, maintaining a line of communication—is vital to the play of almost every hand. It is useless to establish low cards in a suit in the dummy, if the dummy retains no card by which the value of these established cards may be realized.

City & District

Saanich Liberals—A meeting of Ward Two Saanich Liberal Association will be held in Tolmie School, Boleskine Road, next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Registration Closing — General registration of voters for the Provincial voters' list will close at 9 o'clock this evening. Registrations may be made all day today at the registration office in the Sayward Building, Douglas Street.

Postpone Meeting—There will be no luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors on Monday. The postponement of this gathering has taken place in view of the fact that many of the members will be attending the convention of the Rotary International in Seattle.

Use Pictures—The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has been requested to send photographs for use in British and New York papers. There has been a number of these views appearing in the British papers unsolicited. In addition, requests have come for more of them, which are being sent on to the papers by the bureau.

Esquimalt Court—Der John Fook, Chinese, was convicted of driving to the common danger, in Esquimalt police court yesterday, and fined $25. Bernard Kirby also was charged with driving to the common danger, but his case was remanded until Monday. Mr. Kirby was injured in a collision between an automobile and a street car on Esquimalt Road Thursday night.

Will Run Candidates—The Government Reform movement will enter candidates in the next Provincial election and will co-operate with National Councils and other independents in all constituencies, it was announced yesterday, following a meeting of the group held this week. T. Guy Sheppard, M.C., leader of the movement, will seek a Victoria seat in the campaign, it was announced.

Elect New Officers—The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Revellers (Inc.) was held this week, when officers for the current year were elected as follows: President, J. H. B. Gans; vice-president, S. A. Benwell; secretary, W. H. Sturrock; treasurer, B. L. Hearn; board of governors, G. G. Edwardson, B. C. Gillie, Neil McNeil, F. B. Wickett and K. R. Genn.

Arrange Picnic—Final arrangements for the Naval Veterans' picnic to be held June 26 were made last night at the regular meeting of the club. The outing will be held at Rodd Hill and all members and their families are invited to attend. Two buses will leave Esquimalt and Admirals Roads at 10:15 a.m., and three more will start from the club headquarters at the same time. A band will be in attendance.

To Shorten Staffs — Temporary officials employed by the Government in the administration of unemployment relief will be much reduced in number this year, it was announced yesterday at the Legislative Buildings. As far as is found possible, relief administration will be carried out by the permanent officials of the service, with a minimum of additional aid outside of these ranks. The policy is expected to lead shortly to the dismissal of a number of those who have been connected with relief matters in the field.

Kid Show Today—The annual Spring kid show of the British Columbia Goat Breeders' Association will be held at the Willows Exhibition Grounds this afternoon at 2 o'clock. D. MacLean, of North Vancouver, well-known goat judge, will judge the show. It is expected that there will be a large number of kids shown. Burton's Goat Dairy has entered eleven kids in each of the purebred and grade classes for Toggenburgs. Mrs. Lockwood, of Cobble Hill, is showing her junior purebred Saanens and Nubians. These are only a few of the entries already received.

A law providing a moratorium on farmers' debts has been proposed in Jugoslavia.

MAY RECEIVE ROTARY POST

James H. Beatty, M.P.P., Prominently Mentioned for Office

JAMES H. BEATTY, M.P.P.

The Rotary International Assembly now in progress in the Empress Hotel will conclude its sessions this morning, and by the various steamers leaving during the day the delegates who have been in conference here will proceed to Seattle for the convention representative of world Rotary.

At the convention the election of the officers and directors of the international body will take place. In this connection Canada will name a director on the board who will serve during the coming twelve months. This director will be named by the Canadian delegates present at the convention in Seattle next week.

James H. Beatty, M.P.P., of this city, is being prominently mentioned for the office. He is well qualified from experience in Rotary to serve in this important post, having not only been governor of his district, but he also was during the past year a member of the North American Economic Advisory Committee in the international body which met in Chicago, and Mr. Beatty was present with members of the international board as well as of the committee on which he served.

NEW CLUBS FORMED

International Rotary is developing rapidly in its world-wide mission. At the meeting yesterday the announcement was made that two clubs had been organized that day, one in France and the other in Argentina.

The board and the assembly have been holding important conferences here during the past two weeks. With a well-equipped headquarters in Chicago, and in addition to that an important one in London and another in Zurich, Switzerland, the work of the organization is being well looked after. As a result of the world tour made by Sydney W. Pascall and the investigations which he was able to carry out, the possibility of establishing another headquarters in the East has been under consideration. If decided upon it might be located at Singapore or Rangoon.

Those who arrived from Seattle yesterday to assist in the carrying out of the arrangements for the delegates now in Victoria gave the information that 5,500 Rotarians would be in attendance at the Seattle convention.

SUGGESTED CHANGES

This convention deals with the legislation that is required to be disposed of. The executive bodies which have been in session here have had under consideration suggestions made to these members that legislative councils might be provided for, to be elected by the districts or units. Such bodies would have the task of digesting the proposed legislation and submit to the convention the findings for ratification. This is in many quarters considered wiser than to throw matters for consideration into a convention of five to thirteen thousand persons.

The question of whether single classification may be modified to some extent is likely to come before the convention. It is suggested that senior men might remain in the clubs, but at the same time the way might be left open for younger men to enter under the classification, and in this way the advantages of youth might be drawn to the clubs.

Another matter that has been suggested is the creation of a general advisory committee for the United States, somewhat similar to that which exists for Canada.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, will go to Seattle on Tuesday to speak before the convention on the subject of the Pacific Ocean and its future openings for trade.

Enthusiastic House Applauds Dancers in Programme

Probably no one is an atom nearer the answer to "Who's Your Little Who Zis?" after seeing the spirited and well-directed programme given by the Violet Fowkes' Studio of the Dance recital at the Empire Theatre last night. But the turn appearing under this intriguing title was one of the high lights of the evening. Given by eight of the smallest girls, each conscientiously and gravely adhering to her own remembrance of the movements, it revealed some differences of opinion which were very funny, and gales of laughter and hand-clapping greeted the performance.

Features of the entertainment as a whole were the beautiful style and technical finese of the individual dancers. The school evidently aims at sound foundation work, and even the smallest children show the results of correct instruction in elementary steps, postures and movements of the arms. The more advanced pupils, naturally, had flawless style, and gave as artistic performances as can be seen at any studio recital in the city.

VARIED ENTERTAINMENT

Another commendable feature of the entertainment was its variety. Practically all types of step and dance were introduced—the toe dance, clog and tap dance, jazz, sailors' hornpipe, soft-shoe tap, acrobatic, high kick and, in the national dances, Dutch, Old English, Spanish, Mexican, Russian and Sicilian. Each had the right character, the right spirit and the correct technique.

Several of the girls are accomplished and graceful dancers, notably beautiful performances being the waltz "Espagnola," by Peggy Madougall, Berna Waring and Sheila Allard, with catanets; the Russian dance, by little Shirley Anderson; the military tap, "Tommy Atkins on Parade"; the mirror dance, a graceful bit of sophistication and art, interpreted by Berna Waring, and, in the realm of acrobatics, Eugenie Doherty's and Margaret Griffin's. The latter is a remarkable little cotortionist, with an unlimited repertoire of positions into which she can twist with swift facility.

A FAIRY BALLET

The divertissements of the first part of the programme were followed by the prettily-conceived fairy ballet called "The Lost Penny," in which all parts were well acted and commendable contrast between elves and fairies maintained.

The programme and performers were as follows:

PART I

Opening song and dance, Marguerite Hincksman; Black and White, Peggy Macdougall, Berna Waring, Daisy Barr, Doris Scott, Frances Patton, Eugenie Doherty; Little Dutch dance, Betty Jean Saunders, Mavis Pomeroy, Marcia Dorman, Yvonne Simpson, Beryl Hills, Kathleen Cruickshank, Helen Sylvester, Beverley Horton; Doll dances, Irish jig (Eileen Lang), Sailor's hornpipe (Mimi Bailey), French doll (Shirlee Anderson), Messenger (Marianne Wingate); White and Silver Ballet, Estelle Macdougall, Dorothy Graham, Gladys Harrison, Cecily Brown, Anna Peden, Matey Griffin, Norma Hurry, Marguerite Hincksman; Jazz, Berna Waring; Mexican folk dance, Peggy Macdougall; Milkmaid tap, Frances Patton, Alyce Harford, Daisy Barr, Eugenie Doherty; Tango, Sheila Allard; Acrobatic, Margaret Griffin; Tap dance, Anna Peden, Marjorie Kuwata, Marianne Wingate; "In the Looking Glass," Lois Russell, Mary Doherty; Soft shoe tap, Dorothy Graham; Waltz Espagnole, Peggy Macdougall, Berna Waring, Sheila Allard; Waltz clog, Beryl Hills Mimi Bailey, Kathleen Cruickshank Beverley Horton, Yvonne Simpson; Versatility, Gladys Harrison; Skiping rope tap, Estelle Macdougall, Cecily Brown; Acrobatic waltz, Eugenie Doherty; "Hi Kick," Norma Hurry; "Tommy Atkins on Parade," military tap, sung by Marguerite Hincksman, danced by Dorothy Graham, Gladys Harrison, Pearl Thomas, Thelma Pomeroy, Mary Doherty, Lois Russell, Georgette Calder; Russian dance, Shirlee Anderson; Mirror dance, Berna Waring; "Who's Your Little Who Zis?" Betty Jean Saunders, Mavis Pomeroy, Marcia Dorman, Yvonne Simpson, Beverley Horton, Helen Sylvester, Kathleen Cruickshank, Beryl Hills; Acrobatic group, Eugenie Doherty, Margaret Griffin, Doris Scott, Daisy Barr, Norma Hurry, Gladys Harrison.

PART II—"THE LOST PENNY"

BRITISH FIRM ACQUIRES MILL

Large Empire Concern Takes Over Vancouver Milling and Grain Company, Limited

J. A. GILCHRIST

Spillers, one of the largest and most influential milling companies in the British Empire, buying in wheat alone more than 50,000,000 bushels a year, and owning mills with a combined capacity of more than 175,000 barrels a week, with operations extending to every corner of the globe, has become definitely allied with British Columbia industry by taking full control of the Vancouver Milling & Grain Company, Limited.

A few months ago they sent J. A. Gilchrist, their export manager, from London, England, to Vancouver as managing director of the Vancouver Milling & Grain Company, and in charge of all Spillers' milling interests throughout Canada. Thus British Columbia gains, not only the backing and support of Spillers, with their long and successful experience in the milling of flour, poultry and prepared feeds, but the personal guidance of a man whose knowledge of the trade is extensive.

The Vancouver Milling & Grain Company, which Mr. Gilchrist now directs, is one of the oldest milling companies in the province, and has made remarkable strides since commencing business here in 1906.

From a small flour mill in Vancouver, it has built an organization with fifteen branches in principal centres throughout the province, for service to their customers and trade. In addition it maintains its own experimental farm in charge of agricultural specialists, and has its own laboratories in charge of a fully-qualified chemist, where all its products are fully tested in order to assure that the highest possible standards of quality and regularity are maintained.

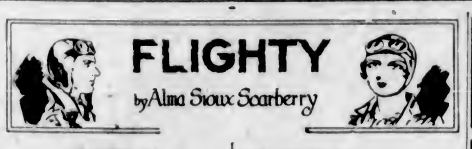

In addition to the well-known Wild Rose cake and pastry flour, and Royal Standard hard spring wheat bread flour, which are milled in Vancouver, a very efficient poultry department is maintained in charge of a practical expert, to give advice on all poultry problems.

FERTILIZER DEPARTMENT

A few years ago a fertilizer department was started which has grown to large dimensions. A more recent development has been the addition of a farm hardware department, handling a complete line of brooders, incubators and general farm hardware, thus enabling the company to render to British Columbia farmers a complete supply service.

Today the Vancouver Milling & Grain Company employs over 225 British Columbia men and women; has an annual payroll of over $250,000, and in addition made the following purchases in British Columbia last year: British Columbia-grown wheat, oats, hay and straw; British Columbia eggs and powdered milk, $475,000; flour and feed sacks made in Vancouver, $65,000; gas and oil for trucks, $12,000; taxes, $15,000; total, $582,000.

One consumers' co-operative society in Stockholm, Sweden, was so successful last year that it gave a refund of 3 per cent on all purchases made during the twelve months, and in addition paid a dividend of 5 per cent to all members.

CHAPTER XX

Gram was sitting in a chair by the window in Gypey's room sewing when she arrived from the airport that first night. Nancy O'Malley looked up and beamed at her happily.

"You've got company," she said to the tired girl.

"How sweet of you to be here to welcome me." Gypsy bent and kissed Gram.

"You poor child. You're all tired out. What do they make you do at the air field all day?"

"Oh, a little bit of everything." Gypsy sat down on a small stool at Gram's feet. "Sometimes I fly, sometimes I take ships apart—I'm quite a mechanic. They call me-chanics 'grease monkey's.' So, I'm a grease monkey."

"It's wonderful," Gram sighed enviously. "Who ever would have thought you'd take up flying for your life work?"

"I probably never would if Brent Jamison hadn't fallen out of the sky at our feet. I guess it was fate."

Gram went on with her sewing.

"I kind of thought," she said a moment later, "you might have fallen in love with Jamison. You seemed so het up about him the first few days."

"Oh, no," Gypsy turned away. "I was just thrilled with the idea of being a heroine, I guess."

Gram looked sharply at Gypsy's profile. She saw the firm set of the little red mouth and noticed that her hands were clasped tightly in her lap. The truth came to her in a flash. Gypsy was in love with Brent Jamison. Her first impulse was to reach out and take Gypsy in her arms. But she stifled her emotion. Gypsy must not know she knew. And Gypsy must have other friends. She was young and would forget.

"Where is that nice Colman boy?" Gram asked then. "You must have him come to dinner soon."

"He is flying around South America now." Gypsy had herself under control when she answered. "But we'll ask him as soon as he comes back. Ted is a sweet old thing."

Gram was happy to hear Gypsy say that.

"He looks as though he had good stuff in him," Gram agreed. "I liked him the minute I set eyes on him. He likes his fun—but that boy has sense."

Then Gypsy told Gram something of Ted's past. Of his lonely life since the death of his mother—of his being crippled—unable to walk for twelve years. When she had finished Gram shook her head.

"He's a man, Gypsy. And you must be nice to him. He needs good friends. I want you to feel free to have your young friends here as often as you'd like. I know you'll bring only the right kind. Maybe you'd like to have a party some of these days. The house is yours."

"You're a darling, Gram," Gypsy reached up and kissed her then. "I don't want a party just yet. But it's nice to know you would like to meet my friends. I haven't very many. I guess I'm not a very good mixer."

"You haven't had the right sort of life, Gypsy. You just didn't care for the kind of people your house was always full of. But there are lots of fine young people in the world and your life is going to be different with me. Come! I'll run the water for your bath—and you rest awhile before dinner."

Gram had some one to baby now. And she was happy.

Jiggs was the first of the O'Malley family to pay Gypsy a visit at Gram's. It was 9:30 and Gram had gone to bed. She had a rigid 9:30 bedtime rule. And she was up at seven sharp. It was a lifelong habit.

Gypsy was surprised when the maid came up to tell her Mr. Jiggs was in the library.

"Send him up, please." She laid her book aside and sat with a worried little frown. Jiggs was probably in some kind of difficulty. Otherwise he would not be likely to come 'way out to Long Island at the hour of the evening when he might have been on a party.

She had never seen him look more handsome than when he stood in the doorway with his little bad-boy grin. She got up and kissed him.

"A new suit—new shoes, and new hat—new tie. Aren't you elegant, darlin'?"

Jiggs strutted for her benefit to better show off his charms.

"It's about time," he grinned sheepishly, "that I shot the works on a few fine feathers to show off my manly beauty. I hadn't had any new clothes in a year."

Gypsy raised her eyebrows.

"Oh—so you shot the works, did you? All your half of the money from the sale of the furniture?"

Jiggs dropped his head and looked up at her impishly. "Are you going to lecture me?"

He had seen that small-boy face work with his sister so often that he was trying it with her again. It had always made her go to Gram and ask for money for him. But this time Gypsy looked at him sternly.

"Surely, Jiggs, you haven't spent all that money?"

He shrugged impatiently.

"How can a fellow get a job when he's in rags? Besides, I can't look like a tramp and live at the club. I've got to keep up an appearance. I consider that a couple of suits and a new outfit of evening rags were a darn good investment."

"It wouldn't have taken all that money for that many clothes," Gypsy figured shrewdly. "You should have been able to live on that for at least four months. That would have given you plenty of time to do something about a job."

Jiggs looked very hurt.

"Oh, you just don't understand! It's a darn sight different for you living here with Gram in this big house and knowing you've got somebody to take care of you. I'd have gone goofey if I hadn't fixed myself up and tried to forget everything for awhile."

"And how have you tried to forget—besides buying a lot of new clothes?"

"I just took a little trip."

"Where did you go?"

"Only up to Saratoga for three days."

"I thought so.'" Gypsy felt herself growing angry at him for being such a fool. "The horse races again! And I suppose you bet on all the losers."

Jiggs got up and walked to the window.

"I did have rotten luck. But I was only trying to make some money. And I did expect you to understand—even if no one else would."

"But you promised me when I lied to Gram to borrow the thousand dollars for you that you'd stop gambling."

"I haven't been back to O'Reilly's since." Jiggs sat down with his head in his hands. "I kept my promise."

"Oh, no, you didn't." Gypsy said crossly. "Horse racing is just as hazardous as roulette. Did you come to me to borrow money?"

Jiggs flushed guiltily.

"I was sure you'd help me out until I got a break. I've been looking for a job every day."

"The three days you were up at Saratoga, I suppose, you were looking for a job. Jiggs you know I haven't any money to give you."

"You haven't spent that hundred Delmar gave you for flying him to Philadelphia, have you?"

Gypsy could not hide her disgust. She got up and faced him angrily.

"I earned that money—and I'm not going to give it to anyone to throw away. I worked hard for it."

"Okay," Jiggs said, and got up to leave. "if you feel that way about it. But I think you might ask Gram for your allowance now and loan that to me."

"My allowance? What do you mean—allowance?"

"She's going to give you an allowance, isn't she?"

"No she's not," Gypsy said indignantly. "I feel bad enough about having to come her to sponge off her without taking money from her. She offered me an allowance but I refused."

"Well—I hope she can take her money to Heaven with her." Jiggs picked up his walking stick and started out.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Jiggs O'Malley." Gypsy shook her head sorrowfully at him. "Gram has kept the whole bunch of us all our lives. And the only reason she isn't doing it right now is because she knows she has just about ruined the whole family with her money."

Perhaps he realized the injustice of saying such a thing about Gram then. For he shrugged and walked back to where Gypsy stood to kiss her good-bye. The little act of tenderness sent a lump into her throat. She had to fight with all her courage to keep her promise to Gram not to give Jiggs any money.

"Please, dear heart," she begged then, "don't throw your money away or run up bills and get into debt. I'd help you in a minute but I just can't break my promise to Gram."

"Oh, I'm beginning to see the light." Jiggs grinned a small twisted grin then. "This is a conspiracy against the black sheep of the family."

"I guess you'd call it that." Gypsy admitted with a little smile. "But I agree with Gram. I'm entirely on her side."

"That leaves me out. Maybe I will have to go to work, after all. Heaven help me!"

Diocesan W.A. Meets at St. Luke's to Discuss Work

Flowers in profusion decorated St. Luke's Parish Hall for the meeting of the Diocesan Board of Columbia W.A., held yesterday, and added to the charm of lovely weather and a kind welcome expressed by Mrs. Lytton, the parochial president, on behalf of her branch, Lady Lake, diocesan president, being presented with a corsage bouquet of yellow rosebuds at the opening of the meeting.

A standing tribute was paid to the memory of Miss Margaret Walker and an appropriate hymn sung, followed by a portion of Scripture read by Mrs. S. Ryall. The noon hour service was held in St. Luke's Church, Rev. S. Ryall giving an interesting outline of missionary work on the lonely Island of Tristan de Chuna.

AFTERNOON SPEAKERS

Deaconess Robinson gave an interesting description of her recent trip up the Island, in connection with Sunday school by post work, to which members were asked to give their support next Sunday at the services for Children's Day, which is being kept in all churches of the diocese.

At the afternoon session, Miss Thornley gave a most interesting talk on the health classes she has been holding for the past six months and which have been well attended by girls of all denominations, seventy-seven classes having been held, the girls passing the examinations in a highly satisfactory way. Miss Thornley described the formation, aims and work of the order, and spoke of the valuable help contributed by many organizations, in supplying layettes and other needs. The opening of Sunshine Camp for the season was announced, and the board voted a contribution for the carrying on of the work.

CAMP PLANS

Assistance was voted by the board to enable two girls to attend the leaders' camp on Gambier Island, which opens on July 11, which was requested by the girls' secretary, Mrs. H. V. Mills. She reported arrangements made for a girls' picnic, which is to be held on June 29, at Willows Park, at which there will be a ceremony of presentation of badges to the winners in the health examination. Miss Thornley will, it is hoped, present the badges, and Miss Mills issued a general invitation to those interested to attend.

A beautifully-made outfit for one of the pupils of the Industrial School was exhibited at the meeting, the work of a girls' branch, the wool for the quilt being carded and prepared in the parish. There is to be an exhibition of the outfits prepared by the branches, at the Memorial Hall on the afternoon of June 30, the diocesan Dorcas secretary, Miss Sill, announced, when tea will be served, the proceeds from which will be devoted to the purchasing fund of that department.

STUDY BOOKS

The educational secretary, Mrs. Llewellyn, asked parochial secretaries to secure their copies of the study book, "China," before the holidays, and to use their leisure hours in acquainting themselves with the book, also the outlines of study in the June issue of The Living Message. "The Book of the Chinese Baby" is now on hand for the junior classes, also small maps of China.

The W.A. library will be closed during July and August, but Mrs. W. Llewellyn will attend to any special requests for the exchange of books if members will inform her by telephone E 4377. Subscribers to the quarterly intercession papers were asked to send in orders for renewals early in September, to Mrs. F. M. Norrish, Beverley Apartments.

JUNIOR WORK

The junior secretary, Mrs. Brooks, reported the diocesan doll dressing competition was more popular than ever, and more dolls had to be purchased to supply the demand from the branches. Mrs. Brooks urged on all superintendents the advisability of beginning the study book early in September, in preparation for the missionary competition on the book, which has been planned for the Fall. The Church Embroidery Guild has been diligent and untiring in its work, which was reported by Mrs. Greenway.

The appointment of Miss Goodeve as one of the delegates to the Dominion annual meeting, to be held in Toronto from September 21 to 23, was made by the board, and the diocesan president, Lady Lake, is to represent Columbia W.A. at that meeting. The arrangements for the Dominion annual meeting were conveyed in a letter from Mrs. Wodehouse to the corresponding secretary, Mrs. May.

NEED READING MATTER

The magazine secretary of the Columbia Coast Mission, Mrs. Philp, would be grateful for good reading matter for the mission, also for sacks in which to ship it, to be left in Room 22, of the Memorial Hall. There was also a request for a boy's bicycle, needed by a working boy, sponsored by Mrs. G. E. Dunn, 1515 Myrtle Street, who would be pleased to hear of any offer.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a vote of thanks to St. Luke's branch for its hospitality was proposed by Mrs. Heatherbell. The September meeting of the board will be held, D.V., at St. Columba, Strawberry Vale, September 16.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CHOCOLATE Cake — This is a very special chocolate cake, which Prudence has always found most popular. Half a cup of butter, one cup of sugar, two eggs, two and a half teaspoons baking powder, one and a half cups of flour, two ounces of chocolate, half a cup of milk. Bake about forty minutes in shallow tins, and put frosting between the layers and on top. Any good chocolate icing recipe may be used, but this is a good one: Two cups of icing sugar, two tablespoons butter, white of an egg (not beaten), one tablespoon milk, and one ounce of unsweetened chocolate. Mix all ingredients together and spread on the cake.—Prudence.

Friends Congratulate Pioneer

Mrs. Jane McCurdy received many congratulations and good wishes of her friends yesterday, the occasion she celebrated at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Anderson, Robertson Street.

Mrs. McCurdy came to Victoria seventy years ago, and for the past several years has been living with her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Conover, in Seattle. Mrs. Conover came over yesterday to celebrate her mother's birthday, and Mr. W. H. McCurdy, president of the Puget Sound Bridge & Dredging Company, accompanied by Mrs. McCurdy, also came over from the Sound city.

As Miss Jane Parker, the venerable pioneer came to Victoria in 1861 from England on the old sailing ship Retriever to visit her sister, the trip around the Horn taking six months. Prolonging her stay, she met her first husband, the late N. C. Bailey, and after their marriage they resided at San Juan Island, where Mr. Bailey had a limekiln in partnership with Mr. McCurdy, who was destined to be her second husband. She resided at San Juan for many years, and well remembers the trouble over the boundary dispute when their own right to property was in question.

A.Y.P.A. Year Is Brought to Close

The following officers were elected at the recent annual meeting of St. Mark's A.Y.P.A.: President, Miss H. Fletcher; vice-president, Mr. William Butts; secretary, Miss Phyllis Butts; treasurer, Miss M. Holyoake; publicity secretary, Miss M. Larkcom. Several new resolutions were formed, and acting on a motion made by Mr. W. J. Butts, a copy of the constitution will be forwarded to the local council, present members of the A.Y.P.A. and all prospective members.

The annual report of the secretary, Miss P. Butts, was read and adopted, and she was warmly thanked for her work throughout the year. The treasurer gave a brief outline of the financial activities for the past year, showing a balance in the bank of more than $100.

Mr. Butts gave a report of the badminton games, showing St. Mark's to be third in aggregate points scored. A committee was appointed to meet the W.A. to make plans for the garden fete to be held at the home of Hon. S. F. Tolmie on July 6. The committee includes Miss Hazel Fletcher, Messrs. W. Butts, R. Birtwhistle, A. McMillan and H. George. A new member, Miss Betty Llewelyn, was welcomed.

The next meeting on June 29 will take the form of a beach party at Willows Beach, the members to meet at the Cloverdale car terminus at 7:30 p.m. The executive committee appointed included Messrs. R. Birtwhistle and A. McMillan.

Y.W.C.A. Hotels Will Not Admit Men

CALGARY, June 17 (CP).—Legal action was instituted in Supreme Court here today to prevent the Young Women's Christian Association from permitting male guests to reside at the association's hotels in Banff and Lake Louise.

The action was brought by three members of the association, Violet Sool, Mary McGowan and Robina Bryant, all residents of Banff.

Statement of claim declares that provisions of the incorporating statute has been violated in the past through the Y.W.C.A. directorate permitting the hostels to be operated as "general hotels." The three plaintiffs declared the association has no authority to permit males to reside at either hostel.

Objectives of the association, which plaintiffs claim apply only to women, are cited.

Parents and Friends Attend Display

A delightful open-air programme, consisting of calisthenics, rhythmic exercises, singing, folk dancing and games, were enjoyed by the parents and friends of the Quadra primary school, who paid high tribute to the splendid display of work.

Among those invited were Municipal Inspector G. H. Deane, Trustee J. M. Campbell, W. H. Muncy, principal of North Ward School, and Major A. C. Hinton, physical training supervisor. Later Miss Lemmax and her staff entertained at luncheon

U.S. Fishing Craft St. Patrick Ordered Forfeited to Crown

Magistrate George Jay Finds Purse Seiner Guilty of Unlawful Operating in Canadian Waters —All Equipment Is Confiscated

The American purse seiner St. Patrick, a vessel valued at approximately $20,000, was ordered forfeited to the Crown in a decision handed down here yesterday by Magistrate George Jay, sitting as a stipendiary magistrate for the County of Victoria.

The St. Patrick was convicted under the Fisheries Act of unlawful fishing for salmon with a purse seine in Canadian waters. Her master, Captain John Sumach, was not summoned as he was absent from the city when his ship was taken into custody by Federal officers on May 13.

HAD STORMY CAREER

The trim little fishing ship, launched at Tacoma on March 17, 1931, and named "St. Patrick" in honor of the patron Saint of Ireland, has had a stormy career. On her maiden voyage which was her first fishing expedition in August of last year, she was seized by the Canadian fishery patrol Givenchy off Discovery Island near here and has been in litigation ever since. Before her capture her haul of fish was of such poor quality that it was unsaleable and was destroyed, officers of the vessel said.

The St. Patrick was on trial in the Exchequer Court of Canada under the Customs and Fisheries Act, but was released on an order from Mr. Justice Martin, senior judge in admiralty, following the hearing of the case here. At that time Mr. Justice Martin found that the Crown failed to establish with the "precision and conclusiveness which are properly demanded in a penal proceeding such as this." The second ground for release of the vessel was a legal one on the construction of the expression, used in Fisheries Protection Act under which the vessel was charged, "inland waters of Canada." Mr. Justice Martin ruled that the locality where the St. Patrick was seized was not "inland waters" within the meaning of the section of the act.

ARRESTED MAY 13

The St. Patrick was released from custody on May 7, but Captain Sumach failed to take advantage of the court's order and delayed taking his ship. On instructions from Ottawa, the Crown rearrested the vessel at the Government wharf here on May 13, and its forfeiture was applied for under the Fisheries Act, which declares it unlawful for any vessel to fish for salmon with a purse seine in any of the waters of Canada. Under this section the International Boundary was the deciding factor while in the Exchequer Court the Crown was obliged to show that the ship was in "inland waters" and within the three mile limit.

Under the act the trial of St. Patrick took place before Magistrate George Jay, and the only recourse the defendants have is to the Supreme Court of British Columbia by way of the certiorari, or to the County Court on appeal. The Secretary of State for Canada has the right to exercise clemency.

QUESTION OF LAW

At the trial before Magistrate Jay, Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, set up that the vessel could not be tried twice for the same offence and based his argument on Section 15 of the Criminal Code. On this point the magistrate ruled that the two were distinct and different offences and were tried under separate acts, and therefor the section of the Criminal Code did not apply.

Magistrate Jay, in giving his decision, found that the observations taken by the officers of the Givenchy fixed the position of the St. Patrick inside the international boundary line. He said he had no doubt that the sextant angles had been carefully taken and checked, and therefor the vessel was in Canadian waters. The evidence at the trial showed that the St. Patrick was "in a haul" at the time of the seizure, and on that evidence the magistrate ruled the vessel to be fishing when seized.

H. W. R. Moore acted for the Crown at the trial in the Exchequer Court and also at the trial before Magistrate Jay. Stuart Henderson intimated yesterday he would consider the advisability of carrying the case to a higher court.

SMOOTHNESS IS AMAZING

Passage of Panama Canal Excites Great Wonder in Traveler

The achievement of the Panama Canal strikes a responsive chord in the traveler. So automatic and so smooth is the operation of the locks and the handling of a huge liner that one is fairly amazed that such an undertaking could actually be accomplished by man.

The early attempts by the French to dig the canal were defeated by the jungle and by tropical fever, and the first thing the American engineers did was to make Panama the healthiest place in the world. The first ship passed through the canal on August 3, 1914, and the total cost of construction, not including fortifications, was $385,000,000. The most interesting fact about the canal is that the Pacific entrance is twenty-seven miles east of the Atlantic entrance, because the general direction of the canal is northwest to southeast.

When one of the giant President liners of the Dollar Line leaves the dock at Balboa and slowly enters the channel it heads to Miraflores Locks, steel hawsers are made fast to the electric mules. Quietly the gates open and the first chamber of the canal is entered. The gates close, water surges in from below, and the ship rises at the rate of three feet a minute until the gates open and a second chamber is entered, and the liner has risen a total of fifty-five feet above the Pacific. A mile farther on are the Pedro Miguel Locks, and still another rise into Gatun Lake.

BRONZE PLAQUE

The total height above sea level is eighty-eight feet. Passing through the backbone of the continents, on the North American side in Gaillard Cut is a bronze plaque to the memory of the engineer who dug this part of the canal, then Gold Hill and the great slide on the South American side, next Darien, the radio station, here and there the railroad, and Borro Colorado Island, which is a game preserve.

NORTHERN RIVERS ALL OPEN FOR NAVIGATION

Navigation and commerce on the Interior rivers of Alaska and the Yukon have resumed full operation, and the placing of a new river steamer on the Stikine River permitted a large number of prospectors to leave Wrangell for Telegraph Creek mining district, while operations on the Taku River have increased the number of prospectors proceeding to the Interior mining districts.

At Juneau a large Eastern mining company is assembling mining equipment to send into the Llard mining district and have five planes to transport men and supplies. The ports of Nome and St. Michael's on the Bering Sea are reported free of ice.

That Body of Yours

A NEW DISCOVERY REGARDING SKIN AILMENTS

Notwithstanding the fact that people do not suffer much pain with skin diseases, are not laid up in bed, and do not die of them, nevertheless, a skin ailment is a most important factor in the happiness and often the success of the individual.

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that sufferers with skin ailments grasp at all sorts of cures—ointments, pastes, salves, electricity, X-ray, heat in various forms, and lately, special diets.

Now there isn't any question but that each and every one of the above forms of treatment has some cures to its credit.

But what of the skin ailment that persists despite all methods of treatment?

It was my privilege for a number of years to examine hundreds of preparatory school students and thousands of university students every year. I thus saw many skin ailments such as acne (pimples), eczema, psoriasis and others, probably just as they had got well started in the individual.

We did not know much about the ductless glands a few years ago, and so I told these students that I thought these skin eruptions were due to changes that were taking place or had just taken place in their body as they were emerging from boyhood to manhood, and that when the system got itself adjusted to the changes the skin would become clear again; that the system just couldn't handle some foods as well as it had been doing owing to these changes, and so they would have to learn just what foods they could eat without aggravating the skin condition.

That the ductless glands have considerable to do with causing skin ailments has now been shown by various investigators. Dr. Bolla Casalderrey, Madrid, measured the rate at which the processes of the body did their work—basal metabolism—in 300 cases of skin disease. He found that the rate was not normal in 56 per cent of the patients.

This knowledge, then, should be of much help in learning the cause, and prescribing the treatment in a great many cases.

Where the rate at which the processes work is slower or faster than it should be, bringing it up to, or down to, the normal rate would seem like good treatment, aside from any internal or external medical treatment or the prescribing of special diets.

This is one step more, then, in the treatment of chronic skin ailments.

The first section of the highway connecting Addis Ababa and Jimma was opened recently by the Emperor of Ethiopia.

Ferry Vessel to Reach Vancouver Half-Hour Later

EFFECTIVE on June 24 and continuing until further notice, the B.C. Coast Service steamer leaving Victoria for the Mainland at 1:45 o'clock each afternoon will arrive at Vancouver at 6:15 o'clock instead of 5:45 o'clock, as at present.

PACIFIC LINER SAILING TODAY

Asia Bound for Orient—Pacific Reliance Looked For Tonight

Outbound for the Philippine Islands via Japan and China ports, the Canadian Pacific Steamships liner Empress of Asia, Captain A. V. Lovegrove, commander, is due alongside of Rithet Piers about 4 o'clock this afternoon. Picking up several passengers from United States points bound for the Orient and taking on last minute mail, the Asia will sail at 6 o'clock for Yokohama, her first port of call on the other side of the Pacific.

From United Kingdom via Panama and California ports, the Furness Line motorship Pacific Reliance will dock at Rithet Piers either late tonight or early tomorrow morning, according to King Brothers, local agents of the line. After discharging cargo here, the Pacific Reliance will proceed to Mainland and Puget Sound ports.

It is expected the Japanese motor liner Hikawa Maru will complete loading her lumber cargo at Ogden Point Piers this afternoon, when she will shift to Mainland ports to complete loading for Japan.

PLANE SERVICE VERY ESSENTIAL FACTOR IN COMMERCIAL CIRCLES

VANCOUVER, June 17.—An urgent call was recently received by a local business man, necessitating his presence in Powell River at all possible speed. Enter, Aviation.

A phone call to the airport; Gordon MacKenzie, crack pilot for Wells Air Transport, had a machine warmed up and ready by the time his passenger was at the field. They took off at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and arrived at Powell River before noon.

A report that fire was menacing certain timber areas on Vancouver Island was received early this week by the owners. Chartering a plane, a representative of the company started a reconnaissance of the firm's holdings. It was discovered that the fire had been put under control before much damage had been done. A complete survey had been made and the party was back in Vancouver in a few hours.

Apart from demonstrating the possibilities of aviation, these instances serve as conclusive proof that it is already an intrinsic part of today's commerce.

On Second Voyage as Commander of Ship

CAPT. A. V. R. LOVEGROVE

D.S.O., R.D., R.N.R., who was appointed commander of the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Asia, succeeding Capt. L. D. Douglas, who was appointed master of the Ss. Empress of Japan, is taking his ship out on his second voyage as her skipper today. Captain Lovegrove was no stranger to the Asia when he left here as her permanent commander, as he had been relief commander aboard her on different occasions. He has had quite a varied career since he took a two-year training course on that famous maker of sailors, H.M.S. Conway, and completed his apprenticeship with three years' service in sailing ships.

After having knocked around on tramp ships for several years, he came to the Pacific Coast in 1910, joining the old Ss. Empress of China. Later Captain Lovegrove served on the Ss. Empress of Japan, and was chief officer on the India in 1914, when that ship was bought by the Maharajah Scindia of Gwalior, who renamed her the Loyalty and presented her to the British Government as a hospital ship. He distinguished himself during the Great War, earning the D.S.O. for auxiliary patrol work on the north shore of Scotland in the 550-ton yacht Portia. Returning to the Canadian Pacific in 1919, Captain Lovegrove joined the Ss. Empress of Canada as chief officer. Afterwards he commanded at various times the Empress of Japan, the Monteagle and Matteawan, and relieved as commander of the Empress of Asia.

MODELS TESTED IN BIG TUNNEL

Action of Spinning Planes Observed Under Various Air Conditions

For many years the only method employed in Great Britain and elsewhere in the study of problems associated with the movement of a spinning airplane was to drop models from the roof of a high building and to watch their behavior as they spun towards the ground. In England the research workers dropped their models from the roof of the old balloon shed at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, but this was demolished a few months ago and new means had to be devised.

H. E. Wimperis, director of scientific research at the Air Ministry, hit on the idea of a vertical tunnel, or cylindrical chamber, in which an upward-flowing air current would balance the weight of the models under test. A miniature tunnel, constructed as an experiment, gave promising results and a larger apparatus, comprising a chamber twelve feet in diameter, was built and put into use recently. The upward moving air stream flows at a speed of thirty feet per second, and the weight of the model is kept to a point where it remains at the same level in the air column. Not only does this method give far more satisfactory results than the old; the experimenters can watch the phenomena much more closely and easily and the models are not damaged by brusque contact with the ground.

MODELS MADE LIGHT

In the new tunnel, which is the first of its type in the world, models made of light balsa wood are tested. The type of spin characteristic of each model is carefully studied, as well as the movements which occur when the controls are suddenly moved over during the experiment by a clever delay mechanism fitted inside the model.

The mathematics of spinning in free flight are extremely complicated. In the words of Mr. Wimperis, "it is simpler to put the model straight into the spinning tunnel and let it do the calculations for itself." In the first few weeks of operation of the new apparatus much has been learned, the scientists have already discovered, for example, that raising the horizontal tail surfaces of an aeroplane helps to prevent the development of the fast flat spin, the most perilous of all spinning movements in aeroplane flight.

Churches and Their World-Wide Work

Church People Have Many Summer Camps

Education and Recreation Combined in Outdoor Life at Camp Artaban, Maple Lawn and Other Centres

Camping time is coming for the boys and girls and young people of the churches. Many of them are looking forward to the week or more of outdoor life, with its hikes and swims, its games and Bible lessons, its chapel services in the morning and its camp fires at night. More and more also the leaders in Sunday school and church work are combining recreation with education, with the result that the leaders' training camps are being increasingly well attended and profitable.

The Summer headquarters for the Anglicans are at Camp Artaban, on Gambier Island, Howe Sound. Here there will be a succession of camps from June 27 to August 29, with the following schedule: Senior boys, June 27 to July 11; church leaders' training, July 11 to July 18; junior girls, July 18 to August 1; junior boys, August 1 to 15, and senior girls, August 15 to 29.

Of special interest to the Island churches is the leaders' camp, of which Rev. F. A. Ramsey, formerly of this city, is dean, which is held July 11 to 18. About thirty were in attendance last year from Victoria and Up-Island. One of a faculty of six teachers is Deaconess Margaret Robinson, of this city. A very impressive period in the daily life at this gathering is the observance of Holy Communion in the rustic chapel. Boys from this city will attend the junior boys' camp on August 1 to 15, which is in charge of E. M. Slater, of Christ Church Cathedral, with whom enrolment may be made.

CAMPS AT SOOKE

Under the joint co-operation of the Y.M.C.A. and the Religious Education Council of Greater Victoria, a boys' camp will be held at "Maple Lawn," Sooke, from July 4 to 18. This will be, as it was last year, in charge of Vivian Shoemaker, and is the twentieth annual association camp.

The girls will follow suit from July 18 to 27, with Mrs. W. P. Freeman in charge. About twenty-five were in attendance last year, and a larger number is expected this Summer. Registration may be made with Miss Winnie Urquhart, care of the Y.M.C.A.

The Baptists of British Columbia have a well equipped and very popular Summer centre at Keats' Island, where they hold a series of programmes which extend from July 12 to the end of August, the dean of which is Rev. C. K. Morse, of Vancouver. One of the most interesting fortnights is that for adults, at which distinguished speakers assist in the programme. Rev. Dr. H. H. Bingham, of Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Patterson, of Calgary, are among those who will be present this year.

A number of Victoria young people and leaders are likely to attend the annual training camp which will be held at Ocean Park from July 20 to 29, of which Rev. E. R. McLean, secretary of the B.C. Religious Education Council, is director.

Comyn-Ching will preach at 11 and 7:30. All English music will be played at the organ recitals before each service. Special choral music at Evensong will include Noble's setting of the Magnificat.

Rev. Canon Comyn-Ching will give a public lantern lecture in the Memorial Hall on Monday at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Men's Guild. The subject will be "Early Days of the Klondyke."

Holy Communion will be celebrated on Thursday at 8 o'clock, and on Friday, St. John the Baptist's Day, at 10:30.

Dr. L. O. Dale, of Vancouver, to Be Sunday Speaker

The usual weekly services will be held Sunday at the Spiritual Science Temple, 1406 Douglas Street, at 3 and 7:30 o'clock, when Dr. L. O. Dale of Vancouver, will be present at both services, with open discussion in the afternoon.

At 7:30 o'clock, after the lecture, Mrs. McDermott will give the messages.

On Monday at 8 o'clock the weekly message circle will be conducted by Mrs. McDermott, and on Thursday at 2:30 the weekly message meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Parker. There will also be demonstrations of healing.

CHURCH TO HOLD MUSICAL SERVICE

"Such as I Have," or "Possession and Results" will be the morning subject at the Central Baptist Church on Sunday. The morning service will be preceded by the Sunday school and Bible classes at 9:45 o'clock.

In the evening Rev. J. B. Rowell will take for his subject "The Matchless Substitute, and Redemption." This will be a rousing Gospel service, preceded by a song service at 7:15.

Much interest is being aroused in the coming visit of Rev. Robert Harkness, the noted evangelistic pianist and singer. Mr. Harkness has unique gifts of composition and interpretation and has made valuable contributions to Christian music by his compositions of new tunes and hymns. A special feature of the programme is the instantaneous composition of tunes. Mr. Harkness will set to music a Scripture verse quoted by any member of the audience, and will then teach the congregation to sing it. Mr. Harkness is to be in the Central Baptist Church on Friday evening, June 24, at 8 o'clock; also on Sunday afternoon and evening, June 26.

Vacation School to Open Soon

For the third Summer, a Bible Vacation School for boys and girls under 14 years will be held under the auspices of the Religious Education Council of the city. This school is open to all and sundry. Last year nearly a dozen different congregations were represented in the enthusiastic band of eighty-eight children who spent their forenoons for a fortnight under the direction of skilled and attractive teachers. The children always ask for a longer tuition period at these vacation schools.

Mrs. Wilkinson will again be in charge of the junior department, while Mrs. Naismith, primary superintendent at First United Sunday school, will look after the younger ones. The sessions will be held in the Metropolitan schoolroom, beginning on July 11 and closing July 29.

ST. ANDREW'S WILL HAVE SACRAMENT

Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell to Preach on Themes Appropriate to Service of Communion

Tomorrow at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed at both services, the minister, Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, officiating.

In the morning the sermon will be entitled "The Grasp of a Father's Hand," and in the evening "The Symbol of a Father's Love."

Members of other churches, particularly those who are visitors to the city, are very cordially invited to join with the congregation in these Communion services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON WILL DISCUSS EVOLUTION

The subject of the lesson-sermon in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Victoria, on Sunday will be "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" One of the Bible texts will be, "O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings and oppositions of science, falsely so called" (I Timothy vi, 20). The lesson-sermon will also include the following passage from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Science relates to mind, not matter. It rests on fixed principle and not upon the judgment of false sensation" (page 128).

Lecturer to Deal With Destiny of Anglo-Saxon Race

A. W. Arnup will address the Victoria branch British-Israel Association on Tuesday at 8 o'clock, when the subject will be "Does the Bible Portray a Temporal as Well as a Spiritual Mission for the Anglo-Saxon Race?" under the auspices of the British-Israel Federation. Gordon Block, 739 Yates Street.

ENDS INNER LIFE TALKS

Metropolitan Church Will Consecrate Flowers at Morning Service

Metropolitan Church congregation is to hear again about "The Power of the Inner Life" when the pastor, Rev. E. F. Church, will preach Sunday night a third and concluding sermon on this interesting theme. The first sermon preached three weeks ago was on "The Power of the Inner Life to Mold Character." Last Sunday the theme was "The Power of the Inner Life to Heal the Body," and tomorrow the preacher's special theme is "The Power of the Inner Life to Alter Circumstances."

The morning service will be the annual pageant of the flowers, when a beautiful ceremony, consisting of the processional of flowers, followed by a consecratory prayer, will be given. Twelve girls of the Canadian Girls in Training will assist in the ceremony. The pastor's subject will be "Consider the Lilies."

The music for the day will be under the direction of Frank Tupman, and will consist at the morning service of an anthem, "Lord, I Have Loved the Habitation of Thy House" (Torrance). For the evening service the choir will sing Mozart's composition, "Gloria," and Edward Parsons at the great organ will play as a solo, "Prelude in C Minor" (Chopin).

The junior department of the church school will hold its picnic at Mount Douglas Park on Saturday, June 25, leaving the church at 2 o'clock.

JOINT REVIVAL SERVICES HELD

Pentecostal, Foursquare and Elbethel Churches Continue Special Meetings

Increasing congregations and deepened interest have marked the first week of revival services under Rev. Dr. C. A. Shreve, in which the Foursquare Gospel, Pentecostal and Elbethel pastors and their congregations are heartily co-operating. Dr. Shreve has commended himself to the local workers for his earnest and effective preaching and gracious personality, and great results are being anticipated during the coming weeks.

This Sunday, owing to the limited capacity of the Pentecostal Assembly, three services will be held in the Shrine Auditorium, View St., at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Dr. Shreve will preach the three times. His subject in the morning will be "Riches of Grace in Christ Jesus." In the afternoon he will speach on "How to Connect Church Machinery With Divine Power," and in the evening on "Wedding Bells."

Every night next week, at 8 o'clock, services will continue in the Pentecostal Auditorium on Broad Street, and every morning, except Monday and Saturday, at 10:15 o'clock.

The musical part of the services have been well maintained by the joint choir and orchestra.

ANGLICANS HOLD CHILDREN'S DAY

Next Sunday will be observed as Children's Day throughout the Diocese of Columbia. On this day Anglicans are reminded of the great importance of religious education among the young, the various ways in which the church seeks to promote this, and also the necessity of financial support for all the various undertakings.

In this connection the Diocesan Board of Religious Education sponsors the following undertakings: Teachers' training classes, Summer camps with training in leadership, special lectures and group meetings on religious education and leadership, vocational guidance and the circularizing and supervising of Sunday school lessons sent to more than 800 children living in the scattered parts of the Island.

The church in the diocese is also linked up with a Dominion-wide organization known as the General Board of Religious Education, which sends highly trained secretaries or specialists to every diocese to advise and assist in religious education and Sunday school matters, and which also provides valuable literature for the use of both parent and teacher.

Parents are specially reminded at this time of their tremendous responsibility in home religious training, especially by example, that the children should learn the lesson of true religion from their lives as well as from their lips.

One Million of the Faithful Will Attend Mass at Dublin

ONE million persons will kneel in silence at the elevation of the Host in Phoenix Park, Dublin, on Sunday, June 26. This high ceremony will be the climax of the thirty-first Eucharistic Congress, the first of which was a gathering of but a few thousands near the town of Lille, France.

For the first time the Congress is being held in Ireland, one of the staunchest of Catholic countries. This year of 1932 is a fitting year for the august function; for it was in 432 that Saint Patrick landed in Wicklow, and began his labors for a fully converted Emerald Isle.

Chicago in 1926, Sydney, Australia, in 1928, Carthage in Tunisia in 1930, Dublin in 1932 and Buenos Aires in 1934—these far separated centres suggest the truly ecumenical character of the Roman Catholic Church. Two-thirds of Christendom will be represented there. And more than two-thirds of Christendom there will be listeners-in, as John McCormick sings the motet at the Pontifical Mass.

Church Army Pilgrims

LIKE the friars of old, a party of Church Army evangelists are undertaking a "Crusade of Witness" from Toronto to Smith's Falls and Campbellford. Under the command of Capt. H. Gibson, the party, six in number, will take with them a trek cart containing camping equipment. Scheduled to visit about fifty parishes of the Church of England, the modern friars will conduct evangelistic services along the way. The party sets out on this fourth pilgrimage of the Church Army after a service in St. Alban's Cathedral. Holding the banner are shown Cadet C. Hanney and Capt. Harry Gibson. The jubilee celebration of this organization, which took place in London, England, last month, at which the Prince of Wales gave an address, was described in The Colonist, Saturday, June 4.

Origin of Empire Is Talk Topic

A popular lecture of great interest will be given by L. K. Kentish-Rankin, M.A. (Cantab.), on "The Origin and Destiny of the British Empire." Mr. Kentish-Rankin is a scholar and traveler of note and has many humorous incidents to relate.

The address, which is being presented by the British-Israel Federation, will be given on Monday, at 8 o'clock, in the Campbell Building, Fort and Douglas Street.

REV. G. F. COX WILL DISCUSS DOCTRINE THAT AWOKE EUROPE

What is the reaction of the God of truth to the moral, political and ecclesiastical iniquities of the present age? and how can a man be a man of truth? are two of the questions to be discussed by Rev. G. F. Cox on Sunday morning in his address from Deut. xxxii, 4.

In the evening the topic is "The Doctrine That Awoke Europe and Still Is Powerful in Men's Destinies Today," from Romans iii, 24. The special soloists for Sunday are Mrs. Discombe in the morning and Dr. Harry Johns at the evening service.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held on the last Sunday in June.

Pity of Christ Will Be Theme At Emmanuel

"The Power of an Endless Life" and "The Son of God in Tears" are the themes at Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday. Rev. M. S. Richardson will be the speaker at both services. The "Te Deum," by Smart will be sung at the morning service, and the anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord," by Roberts, will be rendered by the choir at the evening service, Mrs. James Oakman taking the solo part.

CHURCH PERSONALS

Rt. Rev. C. deV. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, will hold a confirmation service at St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, when twenty-two candidates will be presented by the rector, Rev. S. Ryall.

Among the many Roman Catholic prelates who have sailed from Canada to attend the Eucharistic Congress, which opens in Dublin next Wednesday, were Most Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, formerly Bishop of Victoria and now Archbishop of Halifax, and Most Rev. W. M. Duke, Archbishop of Vancouver.

An organ recital will be given by G. Jennings Burnett before the evening service, during which the following numbers will be rendered: "Communion," by Guillemant; "Prelude," by Chopin, and "Intermezzo," by Hollins. The anthem to be rendered during the service will be "I Am Alpha and Omega," by Stainer. The services for the day will be Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, Morning Prayer at 11, and Evensong at 7:30. The Sunday school and Anglican Young People's Association Bible Class will meet at 10 o'clock.

Rural Churches Face Difficult Problems

Review of Western Country Life Stresses Need of Co-operation and Efficiency in Religious Work

The drift from the farms to the cities and larger towns as affecting the status and work of the rural churches is discussed by Rev. Dr. John A. Cormie, of Winnipeg, in The New Outlook in connection with the observance by the United Church of Canada of Rural Sunday on June 19. This movement, he states, means more in the sparsely settled districts of the West than it does in the East. The Western church must draw its people from a greater area, and this adds to the difficulty of conducting a varied programme of activities.

The dwindling population of the townships is reflected, according to this observer, in the smaller towns and villages, whose population shows a tendency to decrease. All-weather roads, the automobile and chain stores are building up shopping centres in the larger towns. There has also been in recent years a surprising growth of tenancy, resulting in a transitory population that has a different character from that of the farm owners.

A further element in the situation is the presence of large numbers of non-Anglo-Saxons which are to be found in rural blocks, where they multiply rapidly and tend to displace those of Anglo-Saxon descent. Illustrating the effect of this replacement, Dr. Cormie gives an instance where ten years ago there were six ministers of the United Church along a certain line of railroad, all in self-sustaining charges, while today there are three resident ministers, only two of which minister to self-sustaining charges.

REMEDIES OFFERED

Consolidation is urged as one of the more obvious steps to be taken by the churches. The main weakness of the country church, it is maintained, is its divided state. Amalgamation of churches and the enlargement of pastoral areas should be effected. There is needed, too, the better church building. The rural church should be a centre of social activity in adequate church buildings, and where the church leaders are not handicapped by an unattractive one-room building with fixed pews, which was erected for one purpose only—public worship of Sunday—its primary but not its sole function.

It is the opinion of Dr. Cormie, who has had large experience as home missionary superintendent, that most of the recently erected church buildings in Western Canada are fairly well equipped for this larger service and that it is to the credit of the ministers that many of them are making intelligent use of them.

WILL COMPARE TWO NATIONS

Dr. Davies to Contrast British and Russian Ideals and Programmes

Current speculation regarding what form the possible social and economic reconstruction of the world may take, suggests the topic for Rev. Dr. Clem Davies' address tomorrow night at City Temple. His advertised theme is "The Golden Age or Armageddon?"

Outlining the high ideals which characterize the British race, he will ask, "Will Britain or Russia Decide the Issue?" Without discussing the merits or demerits of the Russian experiment, he will urge that even if it be acceptable to the Russian people, the rank materialism of its programme makes it unsuitable for the freer peoples of British blood.

"Withered Hands" will be Dr. Davies' sermon subject at the morning devotional service. At this service the choir will render the anthem, "Fair Waved the Golden Corn" (Deane), and in the evening will sing Strainer's "I Am Alpha and Omega," with Miss Mona Bradford taking the incidental soprano solo. A baritone solo will be contributed by A. W. Trevett.

Brown Jack Takes Important Stakes For Fourth Time

Sir Harold Wernher's Eight-Year-Old Captures Queen Alexandra Stakes Again to Set Record —Concerto Wins Wokingham Stakes

ASCOT, England, June 17 (CP).—For the fourth year in succession, a record unequaled in the great races of the English turf, Sir Harold Wernher's eight-year-old horse Brown Jack today won the Queen Alexandra Stakes, feature of the closing day at Royal Ascot.

Brown Jack was installed odds-on favorite and he raced to the finish two lengths in front of C. W. Birkin's Brulette, who was six lengths in front of the French entrant La Tour d'Auvergne, owned by M. H. Count.

The betting was 8 to 15 against the winner, second 5 to 2 and third 20 to 1. Seven ran. The Queen Alexandra Stakes were first run in 1865.

Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owne's Concerto accounted for the Wokingham Stakes at six furlongs, finishing four lengths in front of Lord Glaneley's Gradmaster, with Red Queen Third another length away. Fifteen ran. The betting was 9 to 2, 100 to 8 and 100 to 7.

GOYESCAS WINS

Marcel Boussac's French-bred colt Goyescas won the Hardwicks Stakes over the mile and a half distance. Goyescas finished five lengths ahead of Lord Rosebery's Sandwich, who had won the classic St. Leger last Autumn.

M Calmann's Primitif was third, another two lengths back. Twelve ran.

Goyescas, a four-year-old by Gainsborough, English sire, out of Zariba, started at 9 to 2 against, Sandwich was at 4 to 1, and Primitif 20 to 1.

The race, first run in 1879, was worth approximately $15,000.

YOUNG TRACK STARS WILL SEEK TITLES

Y.M.C.A. to Stage Junior Meet This Afternoon at High Grounds

Prep, junior and intermediate track and field champions of the Y.M.C.A. will be named this afternoon at the Victoria High School grounds, when thirty-seven competitors will face the starter in the association's first annual meeting. The first event will get under way at 2 o'clock. Physical Director Archie McKinnon and Vivian Shoemaker will be in charge and plenty of sharp competition is expected in all divisions.

In the prep division, Ken Keith, Harry Morrison and N. Young are in fine condition and should stage a merry race for the championship, while Bert Davis, Henry Neilson, Gerry White, Bob Anderson and Mickey Murray are strong contestants for the junior laurels.

Owen Bentley, flashy Saanich High School star, is figured to cop both events in the intermediate class. Bentley is one of the city's best young prospects and can make the best of the seniors step in short distances. Another strong entry will be Ben Vesey, who captured the century for the second year at the city schools' sports at the Willows. Bill Thomason, Ed Harmston, Herb Lansdell and Doug Peden are expected to battle it out for the field honors.

Brief Sketches Of Members of Australian Team

Thumbnail sketches of the personnel of the Australian cricket team, which will play at University School grounds today and Monday, follow:

V. Y. Richardson (South Australia), captain—Vice-captain of the last Australian team to visit England. A vigorous and entertaining batsman and a magnificent fieldsman. An inspiring and versatile leader. Plays shortstop at baseball for the all-star South Australia.

A. F. Kippax (New South Wales)—Captain of his state side and an Australian representative. Probably the most graceful and polished batsman in Australia today. One of the world's great cricketers. Is leading Australian baseball pitcher.

D. G. Bradman (New South Wales)—The world's champion batsman. The idol of Australia. Australian Test cricketer. Holder of the world's greatest score, 452 not out; also the highest Test score, 334. A glorious fielder and a fair bowler.

S. J. McCabe (New South Wales)—Classed by critics as one of the great all-rounders of this decade. A member of the last Australian team to visit England. A hard-hitting batsman, a good medium pace bowler and a fine fieldsman.

Hansen Carter (New South Wales)—Wicketkeeper. Represented Australia from 1902 until 1921. Has an unsurpassable record behind the stumps. Despite his years he is as good as ever.

A. Malley (New South Wales)—The manager of the team. An Australian representative player who was for years the mainstay of the attack. A slow bowler of tremendous skill who now spends his time furthering the grandest of all games; also a cartoonist whose pen has conveyed to the public many humorous incidents of the cricket field.

Fleetwood-Smith (Victoria) — A left-handed "googly" bowler, who is regarded as a potential Test player. Critics place him as a new star of the cricket firmament. He bowled with great success against the South Africans last year.

R. Nutt (New South Wales)—Represented his state last season and scored a century in his first match. A good fielder and a hard-hitting batsman who goes after the runs.

K. Tolhurst (Victoria)—Captained his state against the West Indians. A good sound batsman and a fieldsman of merit.

A. Rofe (New South Wales)—A Sydney first-grader who will make his presence feld in Canada and the United States.

P. Carney (New South Wales)—A useful batsman and an excellent lefthand slow bowler.

W. Ives (New South Wales)—Captain St. George's Club. One of the best all-around players, starring at slip. Hard-hitting batsman. Successful medium-fast bowler. Played for N.S.W. representative team.

CHANGE COURSE FOR SPEEDBOAT RACES

DETROIT, June 17.—The Harmsworth Trophy race, classic of high-speed power boats, will be held this year, September 3, 4 and 5, in Lake St. Clair.

Previously the trophy races have been held on a course laid out in the Detroit River. Recently the committee changed the course to Lake St. Clair after complaints that modern boats had reached such a high speed that the river course was dangerous.

A small pebble flung up against the brass "stick" of a propeller caused an air liner, bound from Croydon, England, to Paris, recently, with twenty-four passengers, to return immediately to Croydon and transfer its passengers to another machine.

Automobiles produced in the world last year totaled 3,042,069.

Changes Made in Starting Time for Monday's Match

IN order to give clerks in the stores a chance to witness the crack Australian cricket team in action, a change has been made in the time for Monday's match at University School grounds. The match will start at noon, with the interval for lunch at 1:15. Play will be resumed at 2:15, and a halt will be taken for tea from 5 to 5:15. Play will then take place until 7:45 o'clock, which will give everyone a chance to see some of the match. Honorary Secretary Frank W. Allwood announced this change yesterday.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Most Gigantic Painting Ever Made—The picture, seventy feet high and forty feet wide, the largest ever painted, was the work of Hokusai, the Japanese painter. It was done at Yedo, in 1817, on the occasion of the Temple Festival on the fourteenth day of the fourth month. The gigantic figure of Dharma was painted with enormous brushes dipped in veritable casks of India ink. The work is on such a scale that the design could only be seen by those who mounted with ladders to the temple roof.

This picture brought Hokusia great fame and the favors of the Shogun Iyenasi. But when he died in 1849, at the age of eighty-nine years, leaving behind him more than 30,000 paintings and drawings in accordance with his last wish his tomb was inscribed Gwakioyen Manjing Haka (Tomb of Manji, the Old Drawling Fool).

Jailing the Raindrops—Emperor Shirakawa ruled Japan from 1073-1129. In the last year of his reign violent rainfall caused the River Kammo to rise and to devastate the countryside by a disastrous inundation. To cope with the flood the Emperor ordered a pailful of rainwater placed under arrest by way of chastisement. It does not seem as though the Emperor's stern measures had any salutary effect upon the fractious rain. History records that Emperor's dying words: There were only three things that did not obey me, the waters of the Kammo River, the dice in backgammon, and the Buddhist priests.

The Passkey to Paradise—"On Mani Padme Hum" are the first words taught to babes in Tibet. It is the most frequently uttered sentence in the country, and is the last prayer of the dying. An all-compelling, irresistible talisman and password to Paradise, it is carved endlessly upon rocks and walls and inscribed upon the prayerwheels with which people pray without opening their mouths.

JERLSTROM TO FACE BROOKS THIS EVENING

HIGAMI AND STEVE NENOFF TO CLASH

STEVE NENOFF

razzed Bulgarian, who will be seen in action this evening, when he steps through the ropes at the Tillicum Gymnasium to tackle Tetsura Higami, Japan, in one of the double main event bouts.

Nore Jeristrom, giant Swedish heavyweight, will make his first appearance before local grappling fans this evening when he tackles "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria, in one of the bouts scheduled on the double main event at the Tillicum gymnasium at 8:45 o'clock by Promoter Fred Richardson. Jeristrom hails from Minneapolis and is coming here from Seattle with a first-class record. In the other half of the duo card, Steve Nenoff, rough and rugged Bulgarian, has been matched with Tetsura Higami, Japan. Local boys will appear in the curtain-raiser.

Since his arrival in the Northwest six months ago, Jeristrom has been tossing the big ones at a fast clip. He is one of the few men who boasts of a victory over John Evko, Chicago flash. His win came in a decisive manner as he picked up Evko and, with a body slam, put him out of commission for the rest of the evening. Brooks is in fine condition and is confident of holding his own against his more experienced opponent.

Higami, who is known as the "Japanese rubberman," made his first showing here last week and scored an easy victory over "Cyclone" Burns, Eastern middleweight. He is rated as the best welterweight to come from Japan in recent years. Nenoff is of the rough type and a hound for punishment. A week ago he beat Ray Ryan, Los Angeles, after a grueling tussle.

Blank Elks 5 to 0 Behind Fine Mound Display of Parfitt

Veteran Pitcher Whitewashes Last Year's Ball Champs in Decisive Manner—Canadians Widen Gap Between Second and Third Places by Win—Kennedy Driven to Showers

HOW THEY STAND

	W.	L.	Pct.
Green Mill	5	1	.833
Sons of Canada	5	2	.714
Elks	2	5	.286
Tillicums	1	5	.167

Next game, Monday—Tillicums vs. Green Mill.

Playing airtight ball behind the steady pitching of the veteran Ray Parfitt, Sons of Canada climbed within half a game of the league-leading Green Mill nine last night at the Royal Athletic Park in the Senior Amateur Baseball League, by blanking the Elks, 5-0. Parfitt worked the distance in brilliant style and, although he was in danger several times he was never scored on.

Jim Kennedy started for the antlered tribe but was yanked in the fourth after being hit hard. Lloyd Jones finished the game and held the Sons scoreless and allowed four safeties. Murty Dunn donned an Elks' uniform for the first time this season, and was in his old position in right field as well as being lead-off batter in the line-up.

Dunn started the first inning by driving a long fly to right field which dropped into Haines' mitt. Craig ran away out to right field after McKenzie's high fly and speared it, colliding with Haines at the same time. Craig went down but quickly recovered and the game continued. Cummins grounded to Saville. Campbell and Haines walked. Bacon sacrificed both runners. Holman fouled to Bowden and Teddy Colgate made a beautiful running catch of Gandy's drive to end the inning and get Kennedy out of a hole. In the second Bowden hit a hard single through third but perished on the bases, as his teammates failed to come through.

BIG INNING

The Sons got to Kennedy in the third, and before being halted had sent four runners across the plate. Haines started off with a single. Bacon bunted. Belcher took the ball and turned quickly to catch Haines going into second, but there was nobody covering the bag and he held the ball, both runners being safe. McKenzie fumbled Holman's hard grounder and Haines raced home from second. Bacon and Holman crossed the rubber on Hilton's double through short. Craig got a life on a Texas Leaguer just over third. Saville sacrificed Craig to second and Belcher ended the inning by leaping high into the air to take Parfitt's line drive.

Three hits at the start of the fourth sent Kennedy to the showers and Jones went in. Campbell started off with a single but was caught stealing. Haines doubled against the centre field fence and scored on Bacon's single. Holman, first man to face Jones, popped up to Forbes, who caught Bacon halfway between first and second for a double killing. At the first of the fifth Webster went to first in place of Belcher. Forbes started another double play in the fifth by taking Hilton's fly and catching Gandy going into third. Gandy started the frame with a two-bagger. Bowden ended the inning by running to the Sons' dugout for Craig's foul tip. It was a nice catch.

LOSE CHANCE

The Elks looked as if they were going somewhere in the sixth. Dunn started with a single. McKenzie doubled against the centre field fence, sending Dunn to third. Cummins popped out to Saville and Forbes fanned. Dunn apparently thought three were out and started to walk for home, and was caught between third and the plate. It was the closest the Elks came to scoring, and after that inning the game went along at a fast clip, with the Sons holding their advantage as Parfitt bore down in the pinches.

TITLE BOUT TO BE FLOP FINANCIALLY

Complete Sell-Out Would Gross Only $500,000—Expect Half the Amount

REDUCTIONS MADE IN TICKET PRICES

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The desperate efforts to get Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defence against Jack Sharkey out of the financial "mechanical lung," where it is breathing faintly, took a decided turn today in favor of the cash customers.

Drastic reductions in whole sections of high-priced seats in Madison Square Garden's new bowl on Long Island have increased to approximately 50,000 the number of tickets that are selling between $2 and $5.

In effect, the cheaper-priced seats have been moved into the higher-scaled areas, leaving only 17,000 of the total capacity of 77,000 in the top brackets. On this new scale it is estimated that a complete sell-out Tuesday night would gross only $500,000, with every indication that no more than half that amount will be lured from the pockets of the faithful.

No other heavyweight championship battle in modern ring history ever presented such a discouraging financial prospect so short a time before the firing was due to begin.

ARTISTIC DUEL

While hope of financial success has about died, there seemed every possibility that the duel will be one of the artistic triumphs of modern heavyweight history. Both warriors are in superb condition. Both are clouters and can take tremendous punishment.

Schmeling still feels keenly the fact that he won the title from Sharkey in four rounds while sitting on the floor claiming a foul, the only heavyweight champion in history with that dubious distinction.

The Boston sailor, with nothing but bitter memories at his own lack of control in a match he was winning easily, is further aroused by the fact that he can gain little but the title in victory. Whereas Schmeling will receive almost 50 per cent of the net receipts, Sharkey will get but 10 per cent.

DRAW FOR CITY CLAY COURT TOURNEY RELEASED

Opening Rounds of Annual Tournament To Be Staged Today

More Than Hundred File Names With Secretary Tommy Forbes for Meet Which Starts at Kingston Street Club This Afternoon—Monday's Draw Also Announced—No Play Sunday

With the entry list totaling over the hundred mark, the tenth annual city of Victoria clay court's tennis championships will open on the courts of the Kingston Street Lawn Tennis Club this afternoon. Although the entry list is lighter than in former years, the calibre of play, that has always marked this tournament, will undoubtedly be maintained.

The men's singles drew the heaviest entry with thirty-two names—all local players. Don Campbell, city champion, heads the list of players, and is No. 1 seeded position. Don, on his present form, is expected to carry off the honors this year. In the top half of the draw with Campbell, is Jones, and, should the tournament follow to form, these two should meet in the semis. The other half of the draw finds Ross Hocking and Marsh Gordon favored to reach the fours. These players will encounter plenty of difficulty on their march to the quarters, as such players as Reg Corfield, Hugo Rayment, T. Forbes and A. C. Brand will have to be contended with en route.

FAMILY AFFAIR

The women's singles seem to boil down to a family affair between Mary and Helen Campbell, although Mrs. Tatlow Wilson should provide the latter player with plenty of competition.

The other events all drew light entries, with the mixed doubles providing the most formidable field. In this event such teams as Helen Campbell and Hocking, Mary Campbell and Campbell, Mrs. Phillips and McCallum, and Mrs. Wilson and Rayment have entered, and competition should be especially keen.

Another event will be added to the programme with a handicap mixed doubles, opening on Wednesday. Entries will close on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. This event has proved popular at open tournaments in the Interior, and the officials of the local tournament hope that a large number of teams will enter. The draw follows:

Draw for today and Monday follows:

BENEFIT FOOTBALL GAME

Sports Editor, Colonist:

Sir,—Will you kindly publish the following letter:

May I, through your paper, be privileged to thank those who were responsible for the football game on my behalf. It was, indeed, a surprise to me, and far exceeded my expectations. I would also like to thank those who participated in the game and the many friends who so generously contributed to the fund. To those who are interested, might I say that I am progressing very favorably, and expect to be home in a few days. DAVE STEWART.

Will Appear Before Local Cricket Fans Today

ABOVE are five members of the touring Australian cricket team which will meet a picked Vancouver Island side today and Monday at University School grounds. Arthur Mailey, one of the best cricket mentors of the Antipodes, is managing the team, which includes eight internationals. Don Bradman, the Babe Ruth of cricket, will be watched with interest in the two exhibition matches here, as he holds every individual batting record that is worth holding. The group, left to right: (1) Don Bradman, sensation of the last test matches in England and whose name is a household word wherever cricket is discussed; (2) A. F. Kippax, who wields the most stylish and correct bat in present day cricket, who, along with E. Rofe, seen in No. 3, helped to bring the "ashes" to Australia from England. A. V. Richardson, shown in No. 4, is the captain of the "Aussies." He is a great batter and played a major part in his country's victories when they met England in 1930; (5) Manager Arthur Mailey, another famous international player, who is a brilliant bowler and a clever batsman.

est wicket-getter in the world, did remarkably well. They compiled 184 runs, of which total Mowbray got 39 and Baiss and Mayo 35 each.

The snappy fielding of the Australians was a revelation, and their fast and accurate return of the ball excited the admiration of the crowd.

On going in to bat, the visitors gave a wonderful display of hard, free hitting—a type of play particularly well adapted to the rather small field.

BOUNDARIES NUMEROUS

Boundaries were very numerous. The high scorer was S. McCabe with 150 runs, being brilliantly caught on the boundary by A. E. Green.

Don Bradman received a wonderful reception when he went in to bat, and slashed the bowling to all points of the compass. He went out at 60, when caught and bowled by Baiss, who had just gone on to bowl. Baiss proved himself one of the outstanding players on the Cowichan team. Mowbray and Mayo were both effective in the field, although the fielding of the Cowichan team was not up to par and contrasted strongly with that of the visiting team.

INNINGS DECLARED

With eight wickets down and 500 runs on the score board, the Australians declared their innings closed, and sent the Cowichans in for the second time. Only forty minutes then remained to play before stumps were drawn at 6:30 o'clock, but owing chiefly to fine, free hitting by Ryall and Mayo, both of whom remained not out, the score was run up to 90 in the time left. Two wickets were down, while Ryall's score stood at 30 and Mayo's at 33.

The umpires were A. D. Radford, of Duncan, and W. Gough, of Shawnigan Lake.

The match excited great interest here, and the day was declared a public holiday. Wharncliffe Road, adjoining the cricket field, was closed to traffic and speial seating arrangements were made to handle the crowd.

IDEAL CONDITIONS

Weather conditions were ideal, and the wicket was in splendid shape, being the subject for favorable comment by the visiting team.

Luncheon was served to the players in the pavilion of the Duncan Lawn Tennis Club, which was loaned for the occasion, while tea was served by the cricket club on the grounds.

The Australians were banqueted tonight at the Commercial Hotel, and left later for Victoria, where they will meet an Island team on Saturday.

HAWKS TO SELL FOUR FORWARDS

Clem Loughlin's Tecumsehs Offered Quartette of Players by Chicago

LONDON, Ont., June 17.—Despite the prevailing hot weather, several important player trades appear brewing in the professional hockey pot.

Jack Anderson, president of the Tecumsehs of the International League, said last night he was in receipt of a letter from Chicago Black Hawks of the National League offering to sell four forwards. Included in the quartette which are on the sale block are Jerry Lowery, a former Tecumseh, who played with the locals when they won the championship in the first year of the Canadian pro league; Lola Couture, bullet-shot wing man; Frank Ingram and Norm Locking, both of whom were with Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets last season.

The letter has been forwarded to Clem Loughlin, manager of Tecumsehs, who lives in Alberta during the Summer.

VANCOUVER, June 17. — Civic staffs have been reduced by 116 employees as a result of the city's adoption of a compulsory superannuation age and by cutting of staffs in various departments.

Because one of the four pupils attending Little Barford, England, School, will leave shortly, and there are no other children in the district, the school will close.

Big League Moguls Are Happy

By HARDIN BURNLEY

FIFTY-ONE thousand cash customers—with an additional five thousand clamoring to get in—a record for Boston, reminded Beantown baseball folk of those boom days in 1914 when the Braves emerged from nowhere in July to capture the National League pennant in October.

It was a gala turnout and a tribute to Manager McKechnie and his warriors who have stirred pennant hopes in the breasts of Boston fans.

The marked improvement in the Braves is due in most part to the determination of Manager McKechnie to turn out a winner in Boston, regardless. McKechnie took over the reins at Boston in 1930, after he had won the National League and World's Championship with the Pirates in 1925, and then piloted the Cards to the pennant in 1928. At Boston he fell heir to a tailender, the Braves having finished last in 1929. His first year in Boston the team finished in sixth place, but last year, despite several changes in the lineup and the purchase of new players, the Braves tumbled, after a splendid start to seventh place.

During the past Winter McKechnie obtained seven new men. Art Shires, leading hitter of the American Association last year, was hired to cover first base. Bill Hargrave, veteran catcher came up from Baltimore; Akers, of Kansas City, and Knothe, of Seattle, joined the infield, and pitchers Huck Betts, of St. Paul, Mangum, of Newark and Bob Brown, a former Boston schoolboy, were added to the mound staff.

The success of the team so far this season is ample proof of McKechnie's wisdom in seeking new blood. Of course the brilliant veteran Rabbit Maranville is still cavorting around the middle-sack and doing his customary good job, although he is not hitting up to last year's standard.

But one of the best "buys" McKechnie made was grabbing off the youngster Bill Urbanski, formerly of Montreal. Urbanski joined the Braves last year, and immediately justified the high price paid for his release.

Right now Urbanski is hitting the ball at a .330 clip and his fielding has been supurb. With Knothe, at third base, Urbanski at short and the incomparable Maranville at second, McKechnie has one of the best infield combinations in the National circuit.

Another young infielder whose work is contributing to the success of his team is Bill Herman, second sacker of the Chicago Cubs. Herman came to the Cubs from Louisville and took over the second base post when Manager Hornsby decided to give up active playing. And the youngster is making good with a vengeance.

Yes, these youngsters and a host of others who have come up to the big show this year, are giving Old Man Gloom quite a thumping around. Habitual tailend teams, with their new blood, have turned the big league races topsy-turvy, and in most cities the turnstiles are clicking merrily and often, and the baseball moguls are smiling—and how!

SWEDEN SENDING MANY ATHLETES

Sixty-Five Men and Women Will Represent Country at Olympic Games

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Winner of six titles in the 1928 Olympic games, Sweden informed the Los Angeles organizing committee today it will be represented by approximately sixty-five men and women in ten of the sixteen events of the international contests here, July 30 to August 14. The team is due here July 4.

Tor Wibom, secretary of the Swedish Olympic Association, turned in preliminary entries for track and field, boxing, cycling, equestrian sports, fencing, modern pentathlon, shooting, swimming, wrestling and yachting. Sweden's was the twelfth report received by William M. Henry, sports technical director, this week. Others announcing the sports in which they will compete have been: Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Greece, Spain, Portugal, Argentina, Ireland, Cuba and the Philippines.

Several Fine Ball Players With "Aussies"

Touring Australians Would Have Liked to Have Played Baseball Exhibition With Local Team—Plans Interfered

Baseball fans of Victoria would have had an opportunity of witnessing the crack Australian cricket team in action on the diamond had not previous plans interfered. Manager Mailey was agreeable to have his team appear in an exhibition game against one of the local sides early Sunday morning, but had to give up the idea when it was learned that they were to be entertained at the Victoria Golf Club at that time.

Among the visitors are several players noted for their skill on the diamond. The most outstanding one is Alan Kippax, who is a pitcher of note. Kippax played for All-Australia against two American university teams and the Japanese all-star squad which made tours of the Antipodes recently. Another star performer is Vic Richardson, who holds down the shortstop position for his team. Other players who know and play the game well are: Don Bradman, R. Nutt, Malley, Ives, Rofe and McCabe.

Baseball is extensively played by cricketers "down under" during the Winter months, Mr. Mailey said. The game helps greatly to improve a player's fielding and also helps to keep his eye in for batting. At interstate games, baseball draws crowds of about 10,000, he stated.

FISHING ATTRACTS ANGLERS TO LAKES IN B.C. MOUNTAINS

BANFF SPRINGS HOTEL, June 17.—Rotarians from all parts of the United States are still pouring through Banff and Lake Louise, en route to the international convention in Seattle, and reservation lists at the Banff Springs Hotel and the Chateau Lake Louise show that parties will continue to avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the Canadian Rockies throughout the week-end. Delegations from St. Louis, Steubenville and Southern Ohio are guests at the Banff Springs Hotel today and will stop over at Lake Louise tomorrow on their way to the Coast.

Fishing in Lake Minnewanka, eight miles north of the Banff Springs Hotel, is attracting more and more visitors who are Summering in the Canadian Rockies. Limit catches are the order of the day, and as stream fishing does not open until July 1, the famous lake is a focal point for the disciples of Izaak Walton. Lake trout, on an average of one and a half to three pounds, constitute the average bag, but there have been some big fish landed and the platters on display on the hall table of the hotel are being watched with interest.

VICTORIA INSTITUTE SEEKS HEADQUARTERS

The Victoria Women's Institute delegated to its executive, at yesterday's meeting, the task of finding new headquarters, as the present premises must shortly be vacated. Mrs. B. Wait was appointed to attend the workroom meetings as convener of community betterment. In the report of the concert held at the T.B. ward recently, mention was made of the fact that Mr. F. H. Parfitt was the vocal soloist in connection with the Victoria band concert. A bundle of clothes was sent to the Children's Aid Home, which is badly in need of a baby carriage.

Reports were given of the June social, at which Mrs. Hutchings had given a demonstration of bookbinding. Conveners were chosen for entries for the Victoria exhibition. A closing bee will be held next Thursday. Arrangements were made to hold a picnic at Cadboro Bay on July 8, to which members and their families will be welcomed.

A play on the Bronte family, which will be produced in London, was written by John Davidson, a railway engine fitter, who never has seen the birthplace of the famous authoresses.

R.C.M.P. OFFICER WINS PROMOTION

Superintendent A. J. Cawdron Appointed Assistant Commissioner—Cranbrook Man Made Inspector

OTTAWA, June 17.—Superintendent Albert J. Cawdron, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a pioneer of the force who joined the old Dominion police in 1897, has been appointed assistant commissioner, it was officially announced today.

For many years he has been in charge of the supply depot here, and now, as assistant commissioner, will have complete direction of the supplies for the force throughout the Dominion.

The new assistant commissioner's career has been varied and colorful, and he has participated in the investigation of many famous cases, both in Eastern and Western Canada.

The appointment of Superintendent Cawdron follows the promotion to the post of deputy commissioner of Superintendent T. S. Blecher, which dates back to April 1 last.

Other advancements in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police include the promotion of Staff-Sergeant G. W. Fish, stationed at Cranbrook, B.C., to be inspector, dating from May 1. He succeeds Inspector Sandys-Wunsch, who is proceeding to the Eastern Arctic.

Security Prices Close Lower at New York Mart

NEW YORK, June 17. — Stocks dropped in a weak market today, giving up hard-won gains of the past few sessions.

Obviously the market's inability to go through the June 4 highs, even after rails had done so, had something to do with the decline, which for many leaders ran from 2 to 3 points. Professional buying interest clearly waned, and lacking support from that quarter, the list seemed to sag of its own weight. Weakness of wheat accelerated declines in shares during the last hour, when trading was most active. Nevertheless, total transactions were only 789,774 shares.

Oils were dull, although there were scattering reports of higher gasoline prices.

Auburn hit the skids for a break of nearly 10 points. However, traders were disposed to pay more attention to rail stocks which, after a feeble advance in the first hour or so, joined the downward procession. Union Pacific closed 4 points lower. New York Central 1 5-8, and Santa Fe 2 3-4. In utilities, American Telephone and Consolidated Gas slumped about 3. United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Case, American Tobacco "B," National Biscuit and Allied Chemical sagged 2 to 3.

Early developments at the Lausanne Conference apparently were mildly approved by the bond market today, with the result that the German Government issues were the star performers of the session.

On the other hand, domestic loans received little attention from traders and investors. The averages for the utilities and industrials held to their closing figures of yesterday, and the railroads slipped only fractionally. United States Government issues improved moderately.

While prices generally were rather steady, the day's proceedings were inclined to dullness.

TWO MINES DROP AND ONE GAINS

Pend Oreille Advances Sharply While Reno Takes Sudden Slump at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—With interest centred chiefly in two of the mines issues, stocks milled around in listless fashion in dull trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today, with a tendency to softness at the close. Of the three price changes recorded during the day, two were on the downside.

Georgia River and Reno Gold contributed the majority of activity, accounting for 19,500 of the total 41,250 shares transacted. Sales generally ran to single block or odd lot transactions in mixed trading.

Georgia reduced an early gain of a quarter to close unchanged at 2 1-4. Reno, down 1 at an opening of 42 cents, steadily declined to close at 39 cents, off 4 from the previous close. Bridge River, a light trader, eased a quarter to 5 1-4 cents. Pend Oreille, contrary to the general trend, advanced sharply to 53 1-2 cents, up 18 1-2 in light trading.

In the oils division, Crow's Nest was the only active issue to show a price change, declining a quarter to 2 1-2 on a turnover of 3,000 shares.

WHEAT VALUES SLUMP HEAVILY

Prices Drop Nearly Two Cents on Sluggish Trading at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, June 17.—Precipitation over Spring wheat lands and a sluggish stock market dictated the trend of wheat prices today. Heavy liquidation in the closing minutes of trade dropped grain values almost 2c.

The close was nervous, 1 1-4 to 1 3-8 lower. July 1 1-4 lower at 54 1-8; October 1 3-8 to 1 1-4 lower at 56 3-8 to 56 1-2; December 1 1-2 to 1 3-8 lower at 57 3-8.

Export traders again held aloof, and this was reflected in dull, almost monotonous pit trade in the early part of the session. Substantial rains over Spring crop areas, and an indifferent stock market, however, brought in a closing wave of liquidation and prices declined.

Broomhall reported a small foreign demand for North American wheat. Enghand is experiencing less selling pressure from foreign countries and this is having little effect on prices due to the small interest prevailing in the United Kingdom.

Requirement in cash wheat and coarse grains were easily satisfied. No. 1 Hard and No. 1 Northern traded at slightly better spreads in a dull trade.

Stocks Slip Lower With Light Trading At Eastern Markets

MONTREAL, June 17.—Trading activity continued at a very low ebb on the Montreal Stock Exchange today, and the greater part of the day's price changes were unimportant. Although the close showed losses outnumbering gains by 12 to 3, the very slight decline of .03 fn the averages provided a more accurate index to the comparatively steady nature of the day's list. Volume was light at 4,694 shares.

Final prices included Celanese, off 5-8 at 3 3-8; Celanese preferred, off 1-4 at 43, ex-dividend; Canadian Pacific, off 1-8 at 10 3-8; Smelters, off 1 1-2 at 33 1-2; General Steel Wares, off 25 cents at 50 cents; National Breweries, off 1-4 at 12 3-4, ex-dividend; Steel of Canada, off 1-8 at 12. International Nickel lost 1-4 at 4 3-4 on 450 sales.

Bond sales were $16,050.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—Stocks reacted today on the Toronto Stock Exchange, halting a moderate two-day advance. The slump in wheat, prolonged discussions on the Bonus Bill before Congress at Washington, and the technical position of the market, were variously ascribed in Wall Street as responsible for the downturn.

Oils were noticeably weak. British American was off 3-8 to 8 1-2, with 585 shares traded; Imperial was off 1-8 to 8, and International Petroleum lost 1-8 to 9 3-4.

Walker common lost 1-8 to 4 7-8.

Metal shares were also weak on the reaction, which was most pronounced in the last hour. Smelters showed a net loss of 2 at 32 3-4, and International Nickel, with 1,916 shares traded, was off 1-8 at 4 5-8.

In the utility group, Bell was up 3-8, Brazilian lost 1-8 to 9 1-2, and C.P.R., with turnover of 770 shares, was off 7-8 to 10. Page-Hersey was off 1-8 to 40, and Steel of Canada common was unchanged. Motors lost ground with the general list. Ford of Canada, with 340 shares traded, was off 1-8 to 8, and Dominion Motors was off 1-8 to a new low of 1 1-8.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—While the price trend today on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange continued to hold an edge of firmness, chief interest centred in the penny stocks. Market leaders held to a small trading circle, with gold and oils firm. Sales showed favorable improvement with 203,000 shares traded.

Leaders in the base metal section continued soft. Noranda dropped 40c to $13.10, with 1,850 shares traded. International Nickel fell 10 to $4.70, and Hudson Bay broke 19c to $1.71.

Minor price changes held in the gold list. Hollinger was up 15c to $4.65 following announcement of a dividend and bonus; McIntyre rose 5c to $16.40.

The most active traders included Olga Gas, 20,900 shares, up 3 1-2c to 18 1-2c; Malrobic, 19,000 shares, up 1-8 to 38c, and McLeod River, 45,500 shares unchanged at 2 3-4c.

PRAIRIE CROPS SHOW PROMISE

Grain Growing Rapidly—Moisture Conditions Favorable in Most Areas

WINNIPEG, June 17.—Western Canada's Spring crops are making satisfactory progress. Substantial rainfall and long warm days have provided ideal growing conditions and prospects are definitely better than on the corresponding day last year, according to the second crop report of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, issued today.

With the exception of the northeastern portion, moisture conditions in Manitoba are most favorable. Wheat growth has been rapid and the cereal is ten and a half inches in height and rapidly coming into the shot blade. The grasshopper menace, although still serious, is believed to be under control.

Reports from Saskatchewan indicate crop prospects generally are satisfactory. Early sown wheat in the west central portion is ten inches in height. General rains fell over the drought area of the province during the past week and higher temperatures are promoting vigorous growth. Prospects are more promising than in years. Slight damage from cutworm and hopper is reported.

General crop prospects in Alberta are very encouraging. Crops in the south, somewhat late, are now making rapid progress. Coarse grain seeding in the north is completed and all crops are making satisfactory headway. Damage by pests is reported as negligible.

THE WORD "CANDIDATE"

You may have been intrigued by pictures of burly citizens of ancient Rome in loose flowing robes, and white at that. And this to us quaint habit has been perpetuated in the word "candidate." Prosaic sounding the syllables may be, but there's a thrill in many a historic tale upon which, when its origin is known, it throws a sidelight.

"Candidate" means "clothed in white." We have it from the Latin "candidatus," one clothed in white," which is from "candidus"—white. And the missing link is the circumstance that in ancient Rome a man campaigning for public office wore a white toga, and was therefore "candidatus," one clothed in white.
